HOME OFFICE
A Workaholic's Tool of Choice

Having a powerful, dependable computer in your home office will keep you productive when you're away from the cubicle farm. As seasoned travelers know Lenovo's ThinkPad laptops offer business-centric software and functionality designed to keep the hardware running smoothly. If you're looking for the familiar ThinkPad bonds in a large, powerful package Lenovo's ThinkCentre M90z all-in-one has you covered.

Much like the laptops in Lenovo's ThinkPad line, the ThinkCentre M90z is a sleek, black box. It's attractive in its simplicity with a spacious 23-inch display sitting on metal brackets. A 3.2GHz Core i5-650 processor powers the computer, which packs 4GB of DDR3 RAM and a 500GB hard drive. The M90z netted a score of 117 on our WorldBench 6 test suite. Few all-in-ones have more muscle, other than the significantly more expensive Apple iMac.

Toolbox Extras

The ThinkCentre M90z comes bundled with Lenovo's ThinkVantage Toolbox software. Like the corresponding utilities on Lenovo's business laptops, the ThinkVantage tools help keep your machine in working order—always handy, since your home office lacks a dedicated IT staff. The Toolbox can automate data backups and monitor your software and hardware drivers to ensure that they remain up to date.

The Toolbox tools regularly scan and analyze the M90z's hardware as well to verify that the All-in-One's innards are working as expected, cataloging any hardware or software changes. That way if something goes wrong, you'll have a concise timeline of critical events, which should make troubleshooting your software or rolling it back to an earlier, trouble-free state less of a hassle.

The M90z's screen supports Windows 7's multitouch gestures if you'd like to add a bit of poking and prodding to your workflow. Lenovo has also added its own finger-friendly magic, with SimpleTap. A two-fingered double-tap on the display fires up the SimpleTap overlay, which presents a grid of large icons that serve as shortcuts to frequently used apps and hardware controls. You can add shortcuts to any file, program, or Website you like, speeding up your workflow with an intuitive gesture.

Saddled with integrated graphics, the M90z is inadequate for serious gaming. The display offers a native 1080p resolution, and HD video playback is smooth and stutter-free, but images are far from vibrant. Colors appear muted even at the brightest display settings—which tends to leave images looking a bit dull. You'll also want to replace the hardware built-in speakers with a set of headphones or proper speakers.

The M90z's screen with a total of six USB ports to accommodate external devices. Notably absent, however, are advanced connectivity options like FireWire and eSATA, a disappointment for storage buffs. A multiformat card reader makes getting photos onto the M90z a snap, and the unit also offers a DVD burner. Built-in Wi-Fi connectivity helps reduce cable clutter, and VGA and DisplayPort connectors invite you to add a second monitor to your workstation.

Lenovo's ThinkCentre M90z packs a lot of muscle into a svelte package. The home-theater experience is a bit lackluster despite excellent video playback, due to subpar speakers and a dull picture. But for a work-focused PC user the M90z combines strong performance and a robust software platform in a package that will simplify your workspace.

Lenovo's ThinkCentre M90z features a roomy, 23-inch multitouch display.

Your Billing Rights, Keep This Document For Future Use.

This notice tells you about your rights and our responsibilities under the Fair Credit Billing Act.

What To Do If You Find A Mistake On Your Statement.

If you think there is an error on your statement, write to us at:

Capital One
P O Box 30279
Salt Lake City UT 84130-0279

In your letter, give us the following information:

- Account information: Your name and account number.
- Dollar amount: The dollar amount of the suspected error.
- Description of problem: If you think there is an error on your bill, describe what you believe is wrong and why you believe it is a mistake.

You must contact us:

- Within 60 days after the error appeared on your statement.
- At least 3 business days before an automatic payment is scheduled, if you want to stop payment on the amount you think is wrong.

You must notify us of any potential errors in writing. You may call us, but if you do we are not required to investigate any potential errors and you may have to pay the amount in question.

What Will Happen After We Receive Your Letter.

When we receive your letter, we must do two things:

1. Within 30 days of receiving your letter, we must tell you that we received your letter. We will also tell you if we have already corrected the error.
2. Within 90 days of receiving your letter we must either correct the error or explain to you why we believe the bill is correct.

While we investigate whether or not there has been an error:

- We cannot try to collect the amount in question, or report you as delinquent on that amount.
- The charge in question may remain on your statement, and we may continue to charge you interest on that amount.
- While you do not have to pay the amount in question, you are responsible for the remainder of your balance.
- We can apply any unpaid amount against your credit limit.

After we finish our investigation, one of two things will happen:

- If we made a mistake: You will not have to pay the amount in question or any interest or other fees related to that amount.
- If we do not think we made a mistake: You will have to pay the amount in question, along with applicable interest and fees. We will send you a statement of the amount you owe and the date payment is due. We may then report you as delinquent if you do not pay the amount we think you owe.

If you receive an explanation but still believe your bill is wrong, you must write to us within 10 days telling us that you still refuse to pay. If you do this, we cannot report you as delinquent without also reporting that you are questioning your bill. We must tell you the name of anyone to whom we reported you as delinquent, and we must let those organizations know when the matter has been settled between us.

If we do not follow all of the rules above, you do not have to pay the first $50 of the amount you question even if your bill is correct.

Your Rights If You Are Dissatisfied With Your Credit Card Purchases.

If you are dissatisfied with the goods or services that you have purchased with your credit card, and you have tried in good faith to correct the problem with the merchant, you may have the right not to pay the remaining amount due on the purchase.

To use this right, all of the following must be true:

1. Your error must be about your credit card for the purchase. Purchases made with cash advances from an ATM or with a check that accesses your credit card account do not qualify.
2. You must not yet have fully paid for the purchase.
3. All of the circumstances are met and you are dissatisfied with the purchase, because of its willful or

Capital One
P O Box 30279
Salt Lake City UT 84130-0279

While we investigate, the same rules apply to the disputed amount as discussed above. After we finish our investigation, we will tell you our decision. At that point, if we think you owe an amount and you do not pay, we may report you as delinquent.

Things You Should Know About this Card

How Do You Apply My Payment? We will apply your minimum payment to any of the lower-rate balances before paying off higher-rate balances. We will apply any portion of your payment in excess of your minimum payment to higher interest percentage balances, before lower rates.

How Can I Avoid Paying Interest On Purchases? Each month you pay your "New Balance" in full by the due date, you will have a minimum grace period of 25 days with no interest charge on all new (1) purchases, 2) balance transfers, 3) cash advance and 4) other charges. If you have been paying your account in full each month, your billing statement and you do not pay your new bill in full, periodic interest charges will be assessed. There is no grace period on cash advances, special transfers, on any new transactions when there is an unpaid balance from a previous bill.

How Is The Interest Charge Applied? Interest charges accrue from the 1) date on the transaction, 2) date the transaction is processed or 3) first calendar day of the billing period. Interest charges accrue daily on every unpaid amount, until it is paid in full. This means your next statement charges will be higher even if you pay the entire New Balance, not month, but each day for its previous month. Unpaid interest charges are added to the new segment of your account. However we reserve the right to not assess interest charges at any time.

How Do You Calculate The Interest Charge? For each segment of your account, we calculate your final interest charge by applying your your day-by-day balance by the daily periodic rate and multiplying the result by the number of days in the billing period. Due to rounding or to minimum interest charges, this calculation may vary slightly from the actual charge actually assessed.

We determine your daily periodic rate by dividing the corresponding Annual Percentage Rates by 365 and round to the nearest fifth decimal. If we change the rate conditions allowed by applicable law, 1. the daily periodic rates and corresponding Annual Percentage Rates increase, the increased charge will not be applied to any transaction made 90 days

To determine your Daily Balance for each segment, 1) take the beginning balance each and 2) new transactions and the periodic amount charge in the previous day's balance 2. Subtract any payments or credits for that segment as of that day. However, if you paid your previous month's balance in full for that particular new service or credit account, new transactions made on that day to your purchase or special purchase segments are not added to the daily balances. Also, transactions that are subject to a grace period are not added to the daily balances.

To determine your Average Daily Balance 1) add the daily balances together and 2) divide the sum by the number of days in the billing cycle.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT PROCEDURES FOR APPLYING FOR OR OPENING A NEW ACCOUNT:

To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies those persons who open an account. The Saskatchewan Cow

The only cow in a small town in Alberta, Canada, stopped giving milk. The people did some research and found they could buy a cow up in Melfort, Saskatchewan, for $200. They bought the cow from Saskatchewan and the cow was wonderful. It produced lots of milk all of the time, and the people were pleased and very happy.

They decided to acquire a bull to mate with the cow and produce more cows like it. They would never have to worry about their milk supply again.

They bought a bull and put it in the pasture with their beloved cow. However, whenever the bull came close to the cow, the cow would move away. No matter what approach the bull tried, the cow would move away from the bull and he could not succeed in his quest.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.

Note. If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

- An individual who is a U.S. citizen or U.S. resident alien,
- A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States,
- An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
- A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to presume that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income.

The person who gives Form W-9 to the partnership for purposes of establishing its U.S. status and avoiding withholding on its allocable share of net income from the partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States is in the following cases:

Northern Brewer is deliberately proud to present Vandal Eyes PA - the first-ever brew kit to be self-brewed by and for and by the true beer-obsessing enthusiast. By the typically geeky, celebrity-turned-brewer-for-a-week, Will Bowtell.

Vandal Eyes PA is the very best homebrew recipe that Will particular. And now we've crafted a recipe kit that replicates its brewing process (thanks to a massive boil-dry!), its caramel maltiness and the citrusy flavors of Cascade and Centennial hops. And once it's guaranteed to give you gaggingly eyes.

But, more importantly, we love the thrill that comes with your own brewing with a new "drinking beer in good time" making beer is GREAT." Of course, it's always nice to have a little help from your friend (and, of course, you can, of course, still enhance it as all brews.

So get out your gaggingly eyes, fellow Vandal Eyesers. And get ready to brew awesome!

5 lbs Pale Malt (2-Row)
3.3 lbs Gold malt syrup (LME)

OTHER FLAVORINGS

1 oz Chinook (12 AAU)
3 oz Cascade (13.5 AAU)
1 oz Centennial (10 AAU)

A 4 oz second dry hop addition is also needed before bottling day
2 oz Cascade
1 oz Centennial

YEAST OPTIONS

Safe YEAST (DEFAULT)
Safale US-05, Medium, Optimum temp 59-73 F

LIQUID YEAST OPTIONS
Wyeast - 1056 American Ale (Optimum temp 60-72 F)
White Labs WLP 001 - California Ale, (Optimum temp 68-73 F)

PRIMING SUGAR

1 oz Priming Sugar (save for bottling day)

PROCEDURE

1. Remove the [illegible] plastic container and crack the [illegible] back of the yeast package. Knead the [illegible] to activate it. Allow at least 2 hours and [illegible] but may take up to several days to activate. Do not worry with inactive yeast, never replace the yeast, but not a batch that fails to ferment properly. If you are a brig shy yeast, be active in advance!

2. Collect and heat 2.5 gallons of water.

3. For malt-extract customers: grains for extract kits are not used by default, but if you requested uncrushed grains, crush them now. Pour crushed grain into a large cotton bag and [illegible] in the open pot to a boil. Steep for 20 minutes at a mild simmer reaching 170°F. Remove bag and discard.

4. Bring to a boil, remove the kettle from the burner and stir in the 6 lbs Gold + all syrups and 3 oz Pale Malt + sugar.

5. Return wort to boil. The mixture is now called "wort" the brewer's term for unfermented beer.

Add 1 oz Chinook hops and a little boil minutes.

It makes sense to add the boil add 3 oz Centennial and 1 oz 13.5 the gold and syrup.

10 minutes before the end of the boil, add 1 oz Cascade hops.

6. Cool the wort: When the 60-minute boil is finished, cool the wort to approximately 70°F as fast as possible. Use a wort chiller if you have one, or an ice bath in your sink.

7. Sanitize fermenting equipment and yeast pack. Once the wort cools, sanitize the fermenting equipment. Fermenter lid + stopper fermentation, hook, handle, etc. Along with the yeast pack and a pair of scissors.

8. Fill as many fermenters with 2 gallons of cold water. Then pour in the cooled wort. Leave any thick sludge in the bottom of the kettle.

9. Add more cold water as needed to bring the volume to 5 gallons.

10. Aerate the wort. Seal the fermenter and rock back & forth or splash for a few minutes, or use an aeration system and diffusion stone.

11. Optional. If you have an OG Brewer Upgrade + Gravity Testing Kit, measure specific gravity of the wort with a hydrometer and record.

12. Add yeast once the temperature of the wort is 78°F or lower (the) warm to the touch. Use the sanitized scissors to cut off a corner of the yeast pack, and carefully pour the yeast into the primary fermenter.

13. Aerate the wort. Seal the fermenter and rock back & forth or splash for a few minutes, or use an aeration system and diffusion stone.

14. Move the fermenter to a warm, dark, quiet spot until fermentation begins.

15. Active fermentation in Belgian Witbier appears mostly 48 hours of breaking. Dry active to maintain and begin. Many will see a cap of foam on the surface of the beer, and you may see bubbles coming through the fermentation lock.

16. Active fermentation ends. Approximately 1-2 weeks after breaking day, active fermentation will end the cap of foam will back into the new beer bubbling in the fermentation lock slows down + stops.

17. Transfer beer to bottles or fermenter. Sanitize siphoning equipment and an airlock and carboy bung or stopper. Siphon the beer from the primary fermenter into the secondary.

18. Secondary fermentation: Allow the beer to condition in the secondary fermenter for 2-4 weeks before proceeding with the next step. Timing not to somewhat flexible.

19. Add the dry hops. Add 2 oz Cascade and 1 oz Centennial hops in the secondary fermenter 3-7 weeks before bottling day.

20. Sanitize siphoning and bottling equipment.

21. Measure out the sugar solution (measured amount of sugar) to be used in water to carbonate the bottled beer) of [illegible] priming sugar in 16 oz water. Bring the solution to a boil and pour into the bottling bucket.

22. Siphon beer into bottling bucket and mix with priming solution. Stir gently to mix - don't splash.

23. Fill and cap bottles.

24. Condition bottles at room temperature for 1-3 weeks. After this point, the bottles can be stored cool to cold.

25. Serving. Pour into clean glass, being careful to leave the layer of sediment at the bottom of the bottle. Cheers!

ACUPUNCTURE

Acupuncture, one of the eight branches of Traditional Chinese Medicine, has been used as a complementary therapy throughout Asia for the past 3,000 years. Introduced to the western world approximately 50 years ago, it has become recognized as an evidence based medical system and endorsed by the National Institute of Health (NIH) where continuing research is proving acupuncture a success in treating a variety of conditions.

Benefits

Most people experience a deep sense of relaxation and well-being during the treatments as acupuncture balances the nervous system, reduces stress, and alleviates pain. Regular treatments are a great way to increase energy, improve digestion, and reduce overall stress and tension. Some of the conditions that may benefit from acupuncture include:

- Pain relief: chronic and acute pain, headaches and migraines, TMJ, neck and shoulder pain, back and hip pain, knee pain, sciatica, fibromyalgia, arthritis, sports injuries, tendonitis, carpal tunnel syndrome, muscular disorders
- Women's health issues: PMS, menstrual disorders, fertility, menopausal hot flashes and night sweats
- Digestive disorders: IBS, indigestion, abdominal pain, constipation, diarrhea, nausea, acid reflux, ulcers, eating disorders
- Psycho-emotional disorders: stress, anxiety, depression, insomnia, ADD, PTSD
- Respiratory conditions: sinus headaches and congestion, sinusitis, asthma, allergies, autoimmune disorders, nor nose and throat conditions
- Side effects from cancer treatment: chemo-induced nausea and vomiting, fatigue, sleep and mood disorders

Greater Cleveland Regional Transit Authority
Application For ADA Paratransit Service

The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) is a civil rights bill that bans discrimination against people with disabilities. Under the ADA, transit agencies operating a fixed-route system must provide a comparable travel system for people with disabilities who cannot use the fixed-route system.

What is Paratransit Service?

Paratransit is the transportation service of the Greater Cleveland Regional Transit Authority (RTA) for persons with a functional disability who are unable to use RTA fixed-route bus or train service for some or all of their trips due to the effects of their disability. Paratransit is a "Shared-Ride" service that operates at the same times and in the same areas as the fixed-route buses and trains with very few exceptions. RTA Paratransit operates in full compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. Eligibility is not based solely on a diagnosis or type of disability.

Individuals are eligible based on 3 categories:

1. Inability to navigate the system independently.

   Any person who is unable to board, ride, or exit any accessible RTA fixed-route bus or train without the assistance of another person, other than the operator, as a result of a physical, visual, or mental disability.

2. Lack of accessible vehicles, stations, or bus stops.

   If accessible vehicles are not available or if a boarding or disembarking location is not accessible on the routes that the customer wishes to travel on.

3. Inability to reach a boarding point or final destination.

   Any person with a functional disability who has a specific impairment related condition that makes it impossible for them to travel, all or some of the time, to a RTA fixed-route bus stop or train boarding location.

Windows® Fax and Scan

One place to scan and fax your documents

FAX You can send and receive faxed documents on your computer without using a fax machine. You can also print, e-mail, or save a copy of your faxes.

To get started:

1. Connect a phone line to your computer.

   If your computer needs an external modem, connect the phone to the modem, and then connect the modem to your computer.

2. On the toolbar, click New Fax.

3. Follow the instructions in the setup wizard to connect to a fax modem, and then, when you're finished, create your fax.

To connect to a fax server instead of a modem, contact your system administrator. For more help with faxing, click the Help button on the toolbar.

SCAN After you add a scanner to your computer, you can preview documents or pictures before you scan them, and then adjust your scan settings for better results. You can also fax or e-mail scanned files to someone else.

To get started:

1. Connect your scanner to your computer by following the instructions that came with your scanner, and then place a document or picture on the scanner.

2. In Windows Fax and Scan, at the bottom of the left pane, click Scan.

3. On the toolbar, click New Scan.

4. Choose the scan settings you want to use, and you're ready to scan.

Use the options on the toolbar to fax, e-mail, print, or copy scans at any time. For more help with scanning, click the Help button on the toolbar.

First make sure you read and understand Active Directory Installation Requirements. If you don't comply with all the requirements of that article you will not be able to set up your AD (for example you don't have a NIC or you're using a computer that's not connected to a LAN)

Note This article is only good for understanding how to install the FIRST DC in a NEW AD Domain in a NEW TREE, in a NEW FOREST. Meaning, don't do it for any other scenario such as a new replica DC in an existing domain. In order to install a Windows Server 2003 DC in an EXISTING Windows 2000 Domain follow the Windows 2003 ADPrep tip

Anissa+Cedric

These two adorable love birds met while they were in elementary school! Fast forward to a few years later and they are ready to start their lives together as husband and wife at Bridle Oaks! They have such a sweet energy about each other and it was obvious to see how much they both like to take care of each other

They picked Leu Gardens as the backdrop for their engagement photos not only because it's absolutely gorgeous but because this was the spot where Anissa those rustic things hence why she has chosen Bridle Oaks as her venue for the wedding! I love it when couples choose a location that is personal to them There were tons of bright flowers blooming this time of year and the weather was just perfect We had so much fun wandering around together and enjoying the great scenery

Enjoy some of my favorite images from their engagement session below!

SCIENCE

The Scientist Behind Our

Dr. Joe McCord, Chief Science Officer at LifeVantage Corporat on, was always interested in how things work. When he was 10 or 12 years old, he got a chemistry set for Christmas—and the rest is history!

He planned to become a chemical eng neer but in his junior year of college, got interested in biochemistry. A professor encouraged and directed him to graduate studies in biochemistry and while at Duke University as a 21-year-old graduate student, he "stumbled on to something very, very important that directed the rest of his career.

He remembers April 3, 1968—going home, sitting down and realizing that 10 years of observations could fit into a logical, rational framework. His "aha!" moment. The next day he designed an experiment to test t. Regarding that moment in the lab when he made his world convened discovery he says: "Science doesn't usually work from a scientist saying, I have a grandiose idea, and the scientist just ng about to prove it. Aussie Blonde Joke No. 232

A blonde was on holiday and driving through Darwin, Australia.

She desperately wanted to take home a pair of genuine crocodile shoes, but was very reluctant to pay the high prices the local vendors were asking.

After become very frustrated with the 'no haggle on prices" attitude of one of the shopkeepers, the blonde shouted, "Well then, maybe I'll just go out an catch my own crocodiles, so I can get a pair of shoes for free."

The shopkeeper said with a sly, knowing smile, "Little lady, just go and give it a try!"

So the blonde headed out toward the river, determined to catch a crocodile.

Later in the day, the shopkeeper is driving home and pull over to the side of the river bank where he spots the same young blonde woman standing waist deep in murky water, shotgun in hand.

Just then, he spots a huge three-meter (nine feet!) croc swimming rapidly toward her. With lightning speed, she takes aim, kills the croc and hauls it onto the slimy banks of the river. Lying nearby were 7 more dead crocs, all lying on their backs.

The shopkeeper stood on the bank, watching in silent amazement. As he watched, the blonde struggled and flipped the most recently demised croc onto its back. Rolling her eyes heavenward and screaming in great frustration, she shouts out:

"This one's barefoot, too!"

This is NOT a test. Just the FAX, ma'am!

are for 24 volt control wiring used in most residential and light commercial equipment, line voltage stuff can be different. Never assume that a wire color is correct for the function it should perform, check it out first. The same goes for high voltage control wiring and motor terminals

- (Terminal name) (color) (function)
- (R) Red, hot side of transformer
- (C) Common side of transformer (See B)
- (Y), Yellow Compressor activity (cooling or cooling and heating on a heat pump)
- (W) (W1) (W2) White "Heat" (gas burner, oil burner, electric heat, (auxiliary heat on a heat pump including defrost output from the outdoor unit to activate electric heat and turn on the AUX heat lamp). Note: some thermostats require a jumper from "W" to "Y" for heat pump operation.
- (G), Green furnace blower fan (needed for air conditioning, heat pumps and some electric furnaces) NOTE: on most thermostats the "G" and "Y" are connected together at all times when the fan switch is in the "Auto" mode!
- (O), Orange Energize to cool (used for reversing valve on heat pumps)
- (B) Blue or Orange. Energize to heat (used on some systems, Rheem/Ruud is notorious for this)
- (B) or (X), Blue, brown or Black, common side of transformer. Needed on some electronic thermostats or if you have indicator lamps. Do not confuse with (B) Reversing valve (energize to heat) above. York and Trane like to use (B) as common.

- (I) Tan or Gray, outdoor anticipator reset.

(Used on GE/Trane/American Standard and some Carrier Products

Giving Students the Foundation for

ETHICS AND PROFESSIONALISM

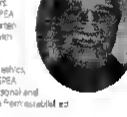
Potter Stewart, a past associate justice of the American Supreme Court, once said that "Ethics is knowing the difference between what you have a right to do and what is right to do." It is that sense of righteousness and integrity that the Student Professionalism and Ethics Association (SPEA) wishes to instill in future dentists.

CDA Principles of Ethics

In 2018, CDA published its updated Principles of Ethics and Code of Professional Conduct. The document represents the ideals a dentist should aspire to as ethical and to which the profession as a whole holds itself accountable.
cda.ca/ethics

Listen to an interview with Sameet Mangat at oasisdiscussions.ca/2018/02/03/spea

SPEA is a student-run association with local chapters in numerous dental schools across the United States and Canada. SPEA was created roughly 10 years ago by student leaders in California, Stephen Sammeet Mangat, a fourth-year student at the University of Detroit Mercy, who originally launched the Calgary Wing started with a small group of students wanting to promote ethics within their own school, eventually led to chapters across North America. "To date, five dental schools in Canada (Toronto and Western have active SPEA chapters, while 46 American schools that are currently members of SPEA," said Dr. Amelia Lindsay, who previously served with the ODA's Dental Association (ADA) Board of Directors who previously served with the ODA's Education Committee and chaired the Dentistry at Risk committee.



Dr. Weingarten first became aware of SPEA when he was inducted as a fellow of the American College of Dentists (ACD) in 2012. "The president of SPEA presented a report on the ACD convocation. Dr. Weingarten remembers impressed with what he heard. He immediately saw the support role SPEA could play in the education of Canadian dental students. Dr. Weingarten came back home with a vision of all Canadian dental schools uniting with their American peers under the SPEA umbrella.

It is no surprise that the ACD – with its mission to "encourage excellence, ethics, professionalism and leadership in dentistry"—supported a group like SPEA. The two organizations share a common mandate of strengthening personal and professional values within the profession, and SPEA members can learn from established dentists who have left years of experience and countless ethical dilemmas.

SPEA offers a non-competitive, open platform for students to learn more about ethics and professionalism, but also practice the ethics standards governing the profession, and discuss sensitive issues. "We typically host meetings where we have guest speakers, established dentists who talk about ethical dilemmas they've encountered in private practice. In addition to those, one may face during dental school," says Ms. Mangat. "It gives us the opportunity to speak out on such issues and it helps us acquire the tools we need to handle these situations in a more sound and ethical manner."

Dentistry students can also access study cases and dilemmas from the SPEA website. "We've done a few of these case studies at our school and found it important to discuss these sensitive issues," notes Ms. Mangat. "That's the beauty of SPEA. It's an open platform. It's a great way to help students overcome the possible ethical dilemmas they may face during dental school and in private practice. The case studies, which cover a range of topics such as anal-sexual abuse in pediatric patients and concerns over the quality of care provided by a colleague, can be downloaded and discussed in seminars. They come with a 6-step ethical decision making model to help students clearly identify the dilemma and navigate through its successful ethical resolution.

"We want students to truly understand that being part of a profession carries with great responsibility," adds Ms. Mangat. "That's why we would encourage every dental school in Canada to aim for the creation of a SPEA chapter of their own. That notion is shared by Dr. Weingarten, who has witnessed the installation of the first Canadian chapters. "We are well on our way to achieving that goal." ✦

I love testing

I installed the fax thing today as per here and wanted to share some testing numbers and sites.

HP Fax prints 1-888-474-1963 Fax a page and it sends you back a fax

Interfaxnet lets you enter a fax number via the site and will send a test fax to it.

FaxToy let's you send a fax to 1-310-348-0999 that you can then view on their site in a few minutes.

$$\delta = \frac{V_O + V_D}{V_{IN} - V_{SW} + V_D}$$

where V_D is the forward drop across the diode (is 0.5V for a Schottky diode).

'r' can be finally written as:

$$r = \frac{(V_{IN} - V_{SW} - V_O) \times (V_O + V_D)}{(V_{IN} - V_{SW} + V_D) \times L \times f \times I_O}$$

and L is therefore

$$L = \frac{(V_{IN} - V_{SW} - V_O) \times (V_O + V_D)}{(V_{IN} - V_{SW} + V_D) \times r \times f \times I_O} \times 10^6 \ \mu H$$

where f is in Hz.

EXAMPLE 1

The input DC voltage is 24V into an LM2576-ADJ buck converter. The output is 12V at a maximum load of 1A. We require an output voltage ripple of 80 mV peak-to-peak (±15 mV). We assume V_{SW} = 1.5V V_D = 0.5V and f = 150,000 Hz.

Since, for loop stability reasons, we should not use any output capacitor of less than 100 mΩ, and since we do not wish to use an LC post filter, our Δi must be

$$\Delta i = \frac{30 \ mV}{100 \ m\Omega} = 3A$$

So 'r' is

$$r = \frac{0.3}{1.0} = 0.3$$

The required inductance is

$$L = \frac{(24 + 1.5 - 12) \times (12 + 0.5)}{(24 - 1.5 + 0.5) \times 0.3 \times 150000 \times 1.0} \times 10^6 \ \mu H$$

L = 197 μH

The required energy handling capability is next calculated. Every cycle, the peak current is

$$I_{PEAK} = I_O + \frac{\Delta I}{2} = 1.0 + \frac{0.3}{2} A$$

$$I_{PEAK} = 1.15A$$

The required energy handling capability 'e' is

$$e = \frac{1}{2} \times L \times I_{PEAK}^2 \ \mu J$$

where L is in μH. So

$$e = \frac{1}{2} \times 197 \times 1.15^2 = 84 \ \mu J$$

Note: During it (and power-up, top and bottom of waveform) calculated the Δi (see above) on the output. The Estimator uses (at first) objective to display the current is the value used above for calculating the energy-handling capability. The current is actually going in to the internal current limit of the device, I_{CLIM} in Figure 1 and this could be much higher than the steady state value calculated above. If the Estimator has calculated and if the input DC voltage is higher than 40V the current could ramp up at a rate so high that the inductance may not be able to limit the current at all, directly to destruction of the device. Luckily, most off-the-shelf inductors are saturable and have relatively air gaps and do not saturate very sharply even under overload conditions. Whatever we did this measurement must at least when the input voltage is above 40V, the Estimator should be used to handle the short-case energy required

$$e_{SLIM} = \frac{1}{2} \times L \times I_{SLIM}^2 \ \mu J$$

where L is in μH and I_{SLIM} is the internal limit of the regulator in amps.

VOLTSECONDS METHOD TO CALCULATE L

Talking in terms of voltseconds allows very general equations and allows to be generated. Here we talk of voltseconds or 'E' which is simply the voltage across the winding of the inductor times the duration in μsecs for which it is applied.

Note:

- Current ramps up in the same peak value whether V (the applied voltage across inductor) is large but t (the time for which V is applied) is small, or conversely V is small but t is large. So an infinite number of regulators with different combinations of input and output voltages but having the same voltseconds are actually the same regulator from the viewpoint of basic magnetics design. Et is what really counts. (The only exception to this is the Core Loss term since Et is depends directly on the absolute value of the frequency too, not just the Et).
- Also, Et can be calculated during the ON-time (Vsecs gained) or during the OFF-time (Vsecs lost). Both will give the same result since there is no net change in Vsecs per cycle in steady state.
- Also, remember that though Vsecs is related to the energy in the core, it does not tell us the load energy. The Vsecs gives information only about the AC component of 'i'. Δi. Combined with the DC component I_{DC}, it determines the peak current and energy of the inductor. So both I_{DC} and Et are the variables on which our design procedure and tables are based upon. But a given application is completely defined by a certain I_{DC} and Et (and frequency for the core loss term) and so these cannot be changed. Our only degree of freedom is L (or 'r') and we do it according to the guidelines in the Appendix.

From the general equation V = L•di/dt we can write that V•dt = L•di. Here V•dt is the applied voltseconds. So by definition

$$Et = V\Delta t = L\Delta i \ Vμsecs$$

where L is in μH. 'r' can therefore be written as

$$r = \frac{Et}{L \times I_O}$$

Solving for L

$$L = \frac{Et}{r \times I_O} \ \mu H$$

which gives us an alternate and more general way of calculating L.

The British and French Mandates

Attitude, Policy and Legacy

Reason for the French intervention

1) Fears by Russian and German-backed rebel groups in the Levant (Lebanon, Syria) would coordinate to rise against the French mandate (Lebanon) (Lebanese Crisis)
2) "Muslim Outbreaks" France's move was to prevent the benefits of the different groups and populations (Lebanese Crisis)
3) Sunni-led Hashemite Iraq (Lebanese Crisis) this country does not cooperate with Muslim

Notes

1. The principle objective of French colonial expansion was nationalism rather than capitalism.
2) This idea was connected with the concept of the "mission civilisatrice" by French, a moral duty to spread the benefits of Christianity and her language to under world, which was also said to assist its assimilation and incorporation
3) France's international and religious rivalry and it was to invest in Lebanon
4) Syria was not especially important to France in strategic terms. The French did not need Syria for agriculture or trade.
5) Lastly, French trade in modern Syria and Lebanon was not significant.
6) France and never established much of a share (also because the ratio of Mediterranean/Lebanese had already risen) this therefore was the case.

Reason for the British Mandates

1. Fears by Russian and French governments
2) The economic interest in Egypt and the Suez Canal
3) Closer relations to Mesopotamia and Middle Eastern states, we cause for the oil
4) British interests in the Red Sea and Persian Gulf

Notes

British governments had no particular feeling or moral statement for Palestine.
2) British constructed a dialysis as a colonial as colonialism
3) Britain's state-building, independence, development helped to reverse
4. Creation of a class of native owners, so called local elites, which both dispossessed Jews Britain and upset Arab British West dispossessed. Finally Palestinians was seriously divided.

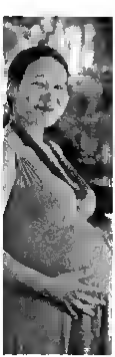
Good Health & Wellness in Indian Country

A Comprehensive Approach

Program Need

Chronic diseases and their risk factors remain widespread among American Indians and Alaska Natives, as they are across the country. However the burden in Indian Country is far higher then virtually everywhere else in the United States. Compared to white adults, American Indian/Alaska Native adults are more likely to be obese, to have been diagnosed with diabetes, to have high blood pressure, and to be current cigarette smokers.

In response to these disparities, CDC created Good Health and Wellness in Indian Country a program offering a more coordinated and holistic approach to chronic disease prevention and health promotion. The program addresses the unique needs of Indian Country and seeks to reestablish a culture of health by building communities and environments that empower people to take charge of their health



Program Summary

Good Health and Wellness in Indian Country is a 5-year $13 million/year initiative that started in fiscal year 2014. The program enlists tribes and tribal organizations as change agents to improve the individual and community health of American Indians and Alaska Natives.

Eleven tribes work on a combination of effective community-chosen and culturally adapted strategies. These strategies aim to reduce commercial tobacco use and exposure, improve nutrition and physical activity, increase support for breastfeeding, increase health literacy and strengthen team-based care and community-clinical links.

Awardees customize effective approaches for their communities to create sustainable programs, broaden community and cross-sector partnerships, and demonstrate health improvements.

Eleven tribal organizations provide leadership, technical assistance, training, and resources to tribes and villages in their Indian Health Service (IHS) administrative areas to initiate program activities that will lead to improvements in health.

Expected Outcomes

CDC expects Good Health and Wellness in Indian Country to demonstrate measurable outcomes that improve health and quality of life.

The three long-term outcomes are

- Reduce rates of death and disability from tobacco use by 5%
- Reduce prevalence of obesity by 3%.
- Reduce rates of death and disability from diabetes, heart disease, and stroke by 3%

CDC expects populations served by this program to experience increased access to smoke free or tobacco-free environments, healthy food and beverage options, physical activity opportunities, and opportunities for chronic disease prevention risk reduction, or management through community programs linked to clinical services.

TUNE IN that old-time radio for the four yearly editions of the Capitol Steps "Politics Takes a Holiday" on April Fool's Day, July Fourth, Halloween and New Year's Eve. The shows are broadcast on most of the stations listed below.

We post broadcast times as we receive them, usually a week or two before the air date. If there is no time listed your station may still be carrying the show. A lot of stations are too busy worrying about Juan Williams to let us know so call them and tell them to contact us with their broadcast details.

LISTEN on-line: this year's and last year's Halloween broadcasts are available for download here in RealAudio format. And if you want the latest and greatest formats, then subscribe to our iTunes podcast or to the RSS feed. Subscribe to us also on YouTube.

Chapter Twelve (Fiscal Policy)

Key legislation: Act of 1946 (...); Accident or economic advisers to president; JEC (Joint Economic Committee)

Modern Economy (Keynesian economics):

- Setting interest levels and controlling inflation
  - Drawback: Keynesian policies sometimes increase unemployment because wages and prices become inflexible and keep rising even when a majority of workers are unemployed
- Money supply
  - Results in inflation

Other Economic Considerations:

- Short-term economic concerns
  - Unemployment
  - Inflation
- Long-term economic concerns
  - Economic growth
  - Productivity

Expenditures as a percentage of GDP in recent history:
Revenues as a percentage of GDP:
Deficit as a percentage of GDP:

Balancing Fiscal Policy

- Affect budget deficits/surpluses to influence the economy
- Changes in spending and taxes to control the economy

Full employment budget (standardized budget): used to determine fiscal policy by referring to GDP to prevent full employment GDP or sustained growth

Built-in stabilizers: features of the federal budget which automatically act to stabilize the economy

Discretion: in excess of the standardized budget deficit or surplus to implement policy to achieve the economy

Cyclical unemployment: unemployment that occurs when the economy is in a recession

Structural unemployment: unemployment that occurs when there is a mismatch between the skills and training of workers and the skills and training required by employers

Fiscal Policy Problems:

- Recognition lag
- Administrative lag: Congress takes a long time to act
- Operational lag: Once passed, it takes time for the policy to have an effect

Full Employment Budget: Budget that would be generated if the economy were operating at full employment. Used to determine whether fiscal policy is expansionary or contractionary.

Spending multiplier: Government spending has a greater impact on the economy than the amount spent because the money circulates throughout the economy, creating additional income and economic activity.

Tax multiplier: Tax changes have a smaller impact on the economy than government spending changes because some of the money is saved rather than spent.

Crowding out effect: Government borrowing can drive up interest rates, making it more expensive for businesses to borrow money for investment, which can slow economic growth.

Supply-side Fiscal Policy

- Increase investment and saving
- Work incentives
- Tax rate reduction

Chapter Thirteen (Money & Banking)

Functions of money:

- Medium of exchange
- Unit of account (value of goods)
- Store of value (holds wealth in money)

M1 Money

- Public: Currency (coins & bills)
- Checkable deposits
- All of M1 money is liquid

Transactions: value of money, value of dollar, and is less than the sale itself

Checkable deposit institutions:

- Commercial banks
- Thrift institutions (savings & loans, mutual savings banks)

M2 Money (M1 money + near money):

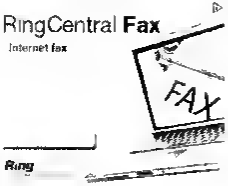
How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it just to make sure it works. How can I do that?



Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-888-877-1655 (a toll free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero: this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Disclosure of Information on Lead-Based Paint and/or Lead-Based Paint Hazards

Lead Warning Statement

Housing built before 1978 may contain lead-based paint. Lead from paint, paint chips, and dust can pose health hazards if not managed properly. Lead exposure is especially harmful to young children and pregnant women. Before renting pre-1978 housing, lessors must disclose the presence of known lead-based paint and/or lead-based paint hazards in the dwelling. Lessees must also receive a federally approved pamphlet on lead poisoning prevention.

Lessor's Disclosure

TEST FAX FROM CISCO

In the late '70s, T.30 was created to make fax machines something they had never been before, interoperable. But many of these manufacturers wanted to go outside of T.30 and continue to use some of their non-standard tricks and abilities. The integrated circuit had begun to make good on its promise to produce a bounty of affordable consumer electronics. This meant that fax machines could go from being arcane, proprietary and extremely expensive to commodities — if only their makers could get over the temptation to make their units different in a way no one else could work with. Clearly a compromise was called for.

The T.30 facsimile protocol was written with many of its tolerances specified loosely enough to accommodate most of the odd stretch and compression of timing and signal content that had plagued fax interoperability since the inception of its market. In numerous places, it was carefully written to be as generally accepting as was possible and still support the desire for inter-operation that started it to be created in the first place. What it couldn't do was accept all manner of odd page image resolutions, strange encoding and outright changes to the signal flow between terminals. Those manufacturers who really wanted to use these deeply proprietary techniques for such things needed to have an exit from T.30 once the fax call had begun and the originating device knew for sure that the answering device was one of its own. The solution that brought them aboard the T.30 bandwagon was just that, a back door.

NSF stands for Non-Standard Facilities. The name actually says it all. NSF is the exit door for a fax call that was started using the compatibility conferred by the T.30 protocol. It permits both terminals to go into a completely proprietary mode wherein they can use any page transmission techniques they can mutually agree upon. When two fax machines enter phase B of their call negotiations, they exchange their capabilities via the T.30 specified DIS and DCS messages. DIS from the answering unit conveys its T.30 compliant features via a string of data bits to the originating device which compares those features to its own list and generates a "best" frame of abilities between the two. If for example, the answerer can support only the V.27 and V.29 modulations but the originator can use V.27 ter, V.29 and the more advanced V.17, the originator's DCS message will constrain the modulation to V.29 to accommodate the answerer's lesser modulation capability. However, the answerer may include the optional NSF frame (or frames) along with its DIS opening up other possibilities.

The NSF frame contains code bits very similar to those in DIS except that they specify features that lie outside of T.30 and, necessarily, outside of the recognition of any fax machine other than one from the same manufacturer as the answering device. Most fax terminals emit NSF frames along with their DIS frames during the reception of a fax call. Where the process gets interesting is when the originating device recognizes both the origin of the answerer's NSF and its contents as being consonant with its own NSF feature set. Now the originator can respond with an NSS (Non-Standard Services) that takes the place of the DCS and sets up a fax exchange that may have little or nothing to do with the T.30 protocol. Once an answerer's NSF and an originator's

That was the document I read, and now I have placed it in the tin box beside the bas-relief and the papers of Professor Angell. With it shall go this record of mine – this test of my own sanity, wherein is pieced together that which I hope may never be pieced together again. I have looked upon all that the universe has to hold of horror, and even the skies of spring and the flowers of summer must ever afterward be poison to me. But I do not think my life will be long. As my uncle went, as poor Johansen went, so I shall go. I know too much, and the cult still lives.

Cthulhu still lives, too, I suppose, again in that sunken city which has shielded him since the sun was young. His accursed city is sunken once more. For the Vigilant sailed over the spot after the April storm, but his minions on earth still bellow and prance and slay around idol-capped monoliths in lonely places. He must have been trapped by the sinking whilst within his black abyss, or else the world would already be screaming with fright and frenzy. Who knows the end? What the stars may mean, and what low madness they rise Leviathanesque waits and dreams in the deep, and decay spreads over the tottering cities of men. A time will come – but I must not and cannot think! Let me pray that if I do not survive this manuscript, my executors may put caution before audacity and see that it meets no other eye.

The Lovecraft Library wishes to extend its gratitude to Eulogio Garcia Recalde for transcribing this text. 2 #TEXT???

To our readers

Welcome to the winter issue of Veterans' Health. As we look ahead to 2015, take time out of your busy schedule to consider your health goals for the new year.

Learn more about VA Telehealth programs (see page 5) and what they can do for you. Ask your provider if this program could help you better manage your health.

Winter's ice and snow can mean danger for your back and spine. Read the first of our two-part stories (page 4) for ways to prevent back and spine injuries.

VA and VISN 10 take mental health issues seriously, and we are working to help Veterans in many ways. On page 6, we explain how anxiety and stress can affect us both mentally and physically, and we offer tips on how to cope. Did you know that VISN 10 offers non-drug, safe natives to help you manage pain? Turn to page 8 to learn more.

We encourage Veterans to think of emotional well-being as an important part of their overall health. The article on page 10 describes how VISN 10 is integrative mental health care into primary care. We also highlight important information about depression and anxiety in women (page 11).

If you're looking for some inspiration to get started on the path to good health, check out Chuck Graham's story on page 13.

We wish all our Veterans a healthy and happy 2015.

Jack D. Bolrick

Cincinnati Alzheimer's and dementia caregiver support group

Cincinnati VA is starting a new peer-support group. It is for people who are caring for a loved one with Alzheimer's or dementia. Members discuss issues caregivers face and provide support for others who have the same challenges. They should also be a source of ideas and tools. To learn more, call Elizabeth Jones, LCSW, at 1-800-272-3900.

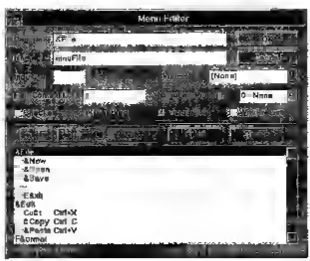
The underscored characters are access keys, just like those on command buttons. The level of indentation indicates position of a menu item within the hierarchy. For example, New is a sub-element of the File menu. The line under Save in the File menu is a separator bar (separates menu items).

With this structure, the Menu bar would display

File Edit Format

The sub-menus appear when one of these top-level menu items is selected. Note the Size sub-menu under Format has another level of hierarchy. It is good practice to not use more than two levels in menus. Each menu element will have a Click event associated with it.

- The Menu Editor allows us to define the menu structure, adding access keys and shortcut keys, if desired. We then add code to the Click events we need to respond to. The Menu Editor is selected from the Tools menu bar or by clicking the Menu Editor on the toolbar. This selection can only be made when the form needing the menu is active. Upon selecting the editor and entering the example menu structure, the editor window looks like this.



Each item in the menu structure requires several entries in this design box.

work entirely at the CLI on a day to day basis. Thus we know that many network engineers are just now investigating the benefits of automation and SDN for the first time.

We'll be addressing this specific aspect more thoroughly in a later white paper but don't be afraid of SDN. SDN provides new tools to make your job easier and more efficient. The need for your hard-earned foundational networking skills and knowledge is not going away. Network automation doesn't mean an immediate shift to everyone becoming a programmer and tossing out the underlying networking skills and knowledge. The knowledge you currently have will remain critical to running the network.

A future white paper will introduce you to exciting possibilities inherent in being able to harness prebuilt network applications, virtualize network functions, or start to develop basic programming skills to customize applications to meet your specific network needs.

As we indicated at the beginning of this white paper, change is something you have always needed to tackle as a network engineer. Programmable networks allow you to apply what you already know and build upon that with new capabilities. If you're familiar with a wireless LAN controller then you've already used a controller to manage network devices in this case, wireless access points. SDN is a continuing development in technology evolution—like many changes that are always happening within the network, the IT nervous system.

The Network Needs You Now More Than Ever

As SDN picks up steam out on the horizon, it is important for network engineers not to retreat into silos of the past. SDN is hitting some industries sooner than others, but for many markets, its arrival might be only two or three years away, perhaps less. A 2016 IDC "Digital Network Readiness Survey" of more than 2000 large and midsize organizations worldwide revealed that 45 percent had a plan to achieve advanced readiness—involving network automation—within two years.

In a 2016 end-of-year forecast, Gartner's research vice president Andrew Lerner predicted "the death of the CLI," indicating that by 2020, only 30 percent of network operations teams will be relying on the CLI as their primary interface, down from 85 percent at the end of 2016.

Because of the onrush of mobile, cloud, and IoT, there are very few industries that are going to be able to isolate themselves from the forces of digitalization, least of all the network that underpins them all. The big network automation wave might not arrive tomorrow, but it is coming.

When the wave hits, should you want to make sure that it doesn't crash over your head. You will be at the center of the excitement—that's because the network cannot be automated to the point of being completely hands-off and free of your expertise. In new and different ways, it is always going to require you, the network engineer. Your function stands to change, but your importance does not.

Frozen Pipes
Find more sources/options for what your looking for

No homeowner ever wants to discover a water pipe has burst, since the leaking water may do a significant amount of damage to the surrounding area and the fix may be very expensive if a professional plumber needs to be called. But what actually causes pipes to burst, and can anything be done before pipes burst and cause serious damage? The answer lies in the nature of freezing water and the structure of the materials used to construct water pipes.

The reason many water pipes burst is because water expands as it freezes. If this expansion occurs in a closed environment such as a water pipe, there could be substantial pressure placed on the inner walls of the pipe material whether it be iron, lead or PVC plastic. Even if a pipe is strong enough to handle the occasional stress of frozen water, the cumulative effect can weaken the structural integrity of the pipe and eventually it will burst.

The good news for homeowners is that most pipes are protected from bursting because they are either covered with insulation or located in areas which rarely if ever reach the freezing point of water. However, there may be sections of piping which are routinely exposed to freezing temperatures or could be compromised if the insulation fails. These pipes burst because the air temperature causes the water to freeze along the inner walls and create a blockage. The pressure of the expanding ice on a weakened section of pipe combined with the pressure of flowing water backing up behind the blockage can make pipes burst without warning.

There is a reason why many professionals recommend leaving a trickle of water flowing through some faucets during cold weather events. If water is allowed to remain still in a pipe exposed to the cold air, the water may freeze solid and the pipe may burst. If the water continues to flow, even in a trickle, it won't have the opportunity to freeze and the pipes should survive until the air temperature warms above freezing. When pipes burst due to freezing, the homeowner may not realize it until a flooding situation develops or overall water pressure is reduced or non-existent.

It is important to keep water flowing through pipes during cold weather, although hot water pipes may resist the freezing process better than cold water pipes. If pipes burst due to freezing, homeowners may want to shut off the main water supply to minimize future damage and call a professional plumber as soon as possible to find the leak and repair the damage.

Mr Hansen

Thanks you for considering our proposal that we prepare office landscaping in your new divisional headquarters We are pleased to submit our proposal herewith for the concept phase as agreed earlier

Since your available area is somewhat limited we suggest a modular layout This concept emphasizes space conservation and yet still provides for a modern pleasing atmosphere

Enclosed are two floor plans The first one will allow you to keep your present furniture The second was designed with the intention that our new space-saving modules be used Notice that the latter will provide for more spacious accommodations and/or room for additional personnel Also included are the specification sheets on these products

After you have had a chance to study our ideas, I would like to set up a meeting during October to discuss any further refinements I will have my secretary make the arrangements. Please call me in the interim if you have any questions

YOU WANT IT! WE'LL GET IT!

Never Say No - Just Check eService!

eService is an in-store ordering process that allows us to order products for customers for delivery. You will be able to offer your customer:

A much wider assortment of merchandise than is available in your store. We call this Assortment Extension.

An easy way to purchase Wedding gifts to be shipped directly to the Bride or to your home to bring to the shower or wedding.

An option to order items that are either out of stock or no longer available in your store.

eService has proven to be a tremendous resource for both our customers and stores. Knowing what's available in and feeling comfortable using e-Service will be critical to making sure a customer never leaves empty handed.

WEDDING & GIFT REGISTRY

Engaged couples can set up a wedding registry in any of our stores and online. We recommend that registrants visit one of our stores to take advantage of the expertise and experience of our registry consultants. Planning a wedding can be a very busy and stressful experience. Our consultants work hard to build relationships with every registered couple and to make the registry experience easy and fun. As a store, we must help couples create a wish list (i.e. registry) that meets their specific lifestyle and needs. By recognizing and greeting registrants enthusiastically - they're the customers with scan guns! - every associate in the store can help enhance the registry experience. Remember, registrants offer a lifetime of business, plus they will send their friends to register with us and their guests to shop with us. Therefore, it's especially important that we go beyond in satisfying wedding registrants.

With the additions of such popular wedding registry categories such as Fine Tabletop and Giftware as well as luggage, we are now, more than ever, a great one-stop option. Bed Bath & Beyond is committed to being the leader nationally in the Wedding Registry business.

Some of our competitive advantages are:

- great customer service for registered couples and their guests
- low prices everyday
- complimentary gift packaging (in store)
- hassle free exchanges and returns
- Friends Referral program - every registered customer receives a coupon for $25 off a $50 purchase for every friend they refer

Our Wedding Registry strategy is based on the 4 B's:

BUILDING the RELATIONSHIP
BUILDING the REGISTRY
BUILDING the BUSINESS by
BEING the EXPERTS

Wedding registries are the most common type. However, customers can set up a registry for many other special occasions – housewarming, anniversary and retirement to name a few.

The Taxpayer Advocate Service Is Here To Help

The Taxpayer Advocate Service (TAS) is your voice at the IRS. We help taxpayers and protect taxpayer rights. Our job is to ensure that every taxpayer is treated fairly and that you know and understand your rights under the Taxpayer Bill of Rights.

We assist taxpayers who are experiencing economic harm, who are seeking help in resolving tax problems that have not been resolved through normal channels, and who believe that an IRS system or procedure is not working as it should.

TAS can help you if your problem is causing financial difficulty for you, your family, or your business.

- You face immediate eviction or foreclosure.
- Your business is suffering or waiting on IRS action.
- You have been unable to resolve your IRS issue despite repeated efforts.

If you qualify for our help, you will be assigned to one case advocate who will work with you until your problem is resolved. We have offices in every state, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. Our employees are independent of the IRS and report directly to Congress through the National Taxpayer Advocate. Call us at [illegible] or visit us at [illegible].

WAIT LIST RULES AND INFORMATION

When unable to find an open section of a course, students may have the option of being placed on a "WAIT LIST" for a specific section of the course. Please note that the following rules apply:

1. Students may add their name to any available "WAIT LIST" up to the last day of registration prior to the beginning of the class.

2. Students will be added to a "WAIT LIST" prior to their registration appointment date.

3. Students cannot be placed on a "WAIT LIST" prior to their registration appointment date.

4. Students on a "WAIT LIST" will have first priority for any seats in a "full" class that may subsequently become available during the first 20% of the course PROVIDED that they attend each and every class meeting (for 16 week semester courses this is the first 3 weeks of class).

5. A "WAIT LIST" will be available only for current class sections that are "full" (that is, the class has reached its "maximum class size"). No "WAIT LISTS" will be available for "canceled" class sections or class sections that are not yet "full". Not all classes have wait lists.

6. Students cannot remain on a "WAIT LIST" for a section of a course that will cause a time conflict with a course section already enrolled. Students will be dropped from the wait list.

7. Students cannot be placed on a "WAIT LIST" for a section of a course when already enrolled in another section of that same course.

8. Students cannot be on more than one "WAIT LIST" for the same course

9. The Admissions and Records Office will regularly monitor all classes with existing "WAIT LISTS" up to the start of the semester. When an open seat becomes available, the top student on the wait list will be moved into the class and notified by email of the action.

10. On the first day of class, instructors will determine the number of openings available in the class, and then offer spaces to students who are on the "WAIT LIST" (providing they are present in the class) in the order in which their names appear on the list. Student responsible for officially adding the class within published registration dates

11. After the "WAIT LIST" for the class is exhausted, additional openings, if any, will be filled by the instructor in accordance with existing college and district policy.

December 29, 2012

Dr. Peter Walker
Cancer Center, Brigham and Women's Hospital
220 Longwood Avenue
Boston, MA 02115

Dear Dr. Walker:

I am writing to express my interest in the position of Clinical Research Assistant in the Cancer Center at Brigham and Women's Hospital. I am in my sophomore year at Harvard University, where I am pursuing to concentration in molecular and cellular biology. My professional interests lie in both lab research and clinical work. I've decided to pursue a career and I'm eager to make a positive impact while interacting with patients undergoing treatment.

This position particularly excites my attention as it involves clinical research, which would combine my previous activities of working in lab research and statistical analysis. My experience as a summer student Dana-Farber Cancer Institute allowed me to work with Dr. Irene Hagopian, performing assays and experiments supporting tumor research. I learned valuable lab techniques and analysis, and the experience further solidified my interest in the area of cancer research. My research assistant role at the Miriam Hospital introduced me to data related to the effects of personality on heart rate, and I was able to use my analytical skills to organize and assess that data for future research efforts. These experiences have only served my strong interest in becoming a researcher and inspired my goal for a career in public health.

In addition to the skills developed in my research experiences, I also strengthened my oral and written communication and organizational skills through two campus positions at Harvard. My Advertising Representative and Office Assistant experiences later required me to successfully multi-task, work under pressure, perceive and solve beneficial of many non-clinical problems. These skills will be valuable in the Clinical Research Associate role, enabling me to analyze and organize data while continuing a rewarding work relationship on a personal level while effectively helping them benefit from the cancer treatment services.

I have included my resume for your review. Thank you for your consideration and I look forward to the opportunity to speak with you about my candidacy in greater detail.

Sincerely,

Carol Sevilla-Diaz

Testing Your HP Fax Machine with the HP Fax Test Service

Introduction

This document will assist you in testing your HP Fax machine using the HP Fax Test Service. Print this document for easy reference by clicking the Printable Version link in the upper right corner of this page.

Test your fax machine

To test the capability of your fax machine, follow the directions below.

NOTE:Be sure that your phone number is not caller id blocked by your telephone company prior to attempting to send and receive a fax. Pressing *82 before dialing the toll free number will unblock the Caller ID blocking feature in most areas. Other phone company services can prevent you from receiving a fax, including voice mail, call blocking, or call privacy features.

NOTE:Whenever troubleshooting a fax issue, it is good practice to set the Automatic Reports option to Every Error before attempting a test fax. This way, even if the sent fax fails, an error code will be generated that will guide you in future troubleshooting. This option is available in different places on different products, consult the product User's Guide for specific steps.

1. Send a one page black and white test fax to 1-888-hpfaxme (1-888-473-2963).
2. When your fax is received by the HP Test Fax Service, we will generate a return fax to you within five minutes confirming that we received your fax. This verifies that you can both send and receive a fax with your fax machine.

If you do not receive a return fax within 5-7 minutes, there may be a problem with the setup of your fax machine. Consult the user manual that came with the product for proper setup.

CancerTYPE ID — Molecular Classification with CancerTYPE ID

FFPE Tissue Processing & Tumor Enrichment

- CancerTYPE ID requires as few as 300-500 viable tumor cells and is compatible with limited biopsy specimens such as FNAs, cytological specimens, and small core needle biopsies.
- CancerTYPE ID routinely employs laser guided microdissection to enrich for tumor specimen.

Gene Expression Profiling

- CancerTYPE ID uses a robust real-time RT-PCR platform to detect very small differences in gene expression.
- CancerTYPE ID measures and integrates the gene expression of 92 genes, 5 normalization genes and 87 lineage determinant and tissue-specific genes, most of which are not routinely measured by IHC.

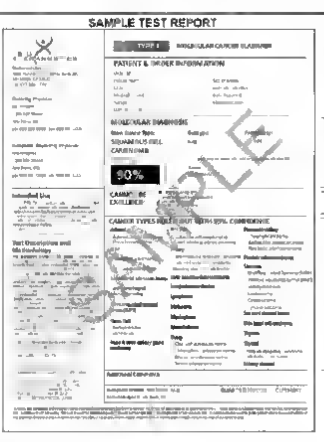
Reference Tumor Database & Algorithm

- CancerTYPE ID uses a computational algorithm to predict the patient's tumor type based on the degree of similarity of the sample's 92-gene expression profile to a reference database of gene expression profiles. The reference database contains gene expression information from over 2,000 tumor specimens of known histogenesis, and representing ~95% of all solid tumors based on incidence.
- The CancerTYPE ID algorithm provides a predicted main type and any sub-types in rank-order by relative probabilities, which are based on the tumor's gene expression similarity to tumors of these types in the reference database.

Molecular Classification

- CancerTYPE ID classifies 28 tumor types and 50 tumor subtypes.
- In an independent validation of 2998 blinded samples, the molecular diagnosis was 87% accurate for main tumor type and 86% accurate for tumor subtype.

SAMPLE TEST REPORT



Interpreting CancerTYPE ID Test Results

MOLECULAR DIAGNOSIS

The [redacted] molecular diagnosis is the CancerTYPE ID prediction of certain tumor subtypes. It is reported probability (≥ 80%), the tumor is reported as "Indeterminate", in this case, the test report will also indicate tumor types that can be ruled out (see below) that cannot be excluded.

CAN NOT BE EXCLUDED

When applicable, tumor types on the CancerTYPE ID reference database that share some gene expression profile similarity to the patient's sample such that they cannot be excluded. Item diagnostic consideration will be listed here in rank order.

RULE OUTS

The CancerTYPE ID test report also lists tumor types that can all be ruled out with 95% confidence. In an independent validation of 2998 blinded samples, the rule-outs were 95% accurate. This may provide useful differential diagnostic information when two or more potential tumor types are suspected and one or more tumors may be ruled out in the rule outs.

Get out of the car!

(This is supposedly a true account recorded in the Police Log of Sarasota, Florida.)

An elderly Florida lady did her shopping and, upon returning to her car, found four males in the act of leaving with her vehicle.

She dropped her shopping bags and drew her handgun, proceeding to [illegible] lungs, "I have a gun, and I know how to use it! Get out of the car!"

The four men didn't wait for a second threat. They got out and ran like mad.

The lady, somewhat shaken, then proceeded to load her shopping bags into the back of the car and got into the driver's seat. She was so shaken that she could not get her key into the ignition.

She tried and tried, and then she realised why. It was for the same reason she had wondered why [illegible] bee and two 12-packs of beer in the front seat.

A few minutes later, she found her own car parked four or five spaces farther down.

She loaded her bags into the car and drove to the police station to report her mistake.

The sergeant to whom she told the story couldn't stop laughing.

He pointed to the other end of the counter, where four pale men were reporting a car jacking by a mad, elderly woman described as white, less than five feet [illegible] hair, and carrying a large handgun.

No charges were filed.

Moral of the story? If you're going to have a senior moment . . . make it memorable.

Soft Tissue Injury of the Neck

A soft tissue injury of the neck needs medical care right away. These injuries are often caused by a direct hit to the neck. Some injuries do not break the skin (blunt injury). Some injuries do break the skin (penetrating injury) and create an open wound. You may feel fine at first, but the puffiness (swelling) in your throat can slowly make it harder to breathe. This could cause serious or life-threatening injury. There could be damage to major blood vessels and nerves in the neck. Neck injuries need to be checked by a doctor.

HOME CARE

- If the skin was broken, keep the area clean and dry. Care for your wound as told by your doctor.
- Follow your doctor's diet advice.
- Follow your doctor's advice about using your voice.
- Only take medicines as told by your doctor.
- Keep your head and neck raised (elevated). Do this while you sleep, too.

GET HELP RIGHT AWAY IF:

- Your voice gets weaker.
- Your puffiness or bruising does not get better.
- You have problems with your medicines.
- You see fluid coming from the wound.
- Your pain gets worse, or you have trouble swallowing.
- You cough up blood.
- You have trouble breathing.
- You start to drool.
- You start throwing up (vomiting).
- You have new puffiness in the neck or face.
- You have a temperature by mouth above 102° F (38.9° C), not controlled by medicine.

MAKE SURE YOU:

- Understand these instructions.
- Will watch your condition.
- Will get help right away if you are not doing well or get worse.

This information is not intended to replace advice given to you by your health care provider. Make sure you discuss any questions you have with your health care provider.

IN THIS ISSUE

English Leadership Quarterly Transitions

Susan L. Croncke, editor

It's been seven years since Lisa Scharff and I took over the editing reins for English Leadership Quarterly from Bonita Wilcox and three since I began editing English Leadership Quarterly on my own. It's been an inspiring journey. I've met a lot of excellent teachers and school leaders along the way and learned a lot about the slow swinging pendulum and "old wine, new bottles" nuances of educational policy. Lisa and I were complaining about NCLB in our earliest issues calling for less testing and more teacher voice and participation in policy making. Now it's Common Core, but our hopes for more authentic, less punitive assessments (of both students and teachers) and more teacher input are no less heartfelt.

Frustrations for teachers continue sure, but good things like excellent instruction, daily dedication, and effective literacy leadership continue too, as witnessed in the past 27 issues of English Leadership Quarterly. I am pleased that our first issue (August 2007) featured the work of Doris Plumb, a teacher at an alternative school whose "commando style" in instructional practices became the focus of the popular book, Commando Classics: A Field Manual for Helping Teens Understand (and Maybe Even Enjoy) Classic Literature published in 2012. I am pleased, too that thoughts on effective English leadership by Ken Lindblom, Peg Graham and James Marshall (October 2007) and Lee Burns, Thomas M. McCann, and Sandra Whitaker (August 2008) found an audience eager to listen and learn. And I am also pleased that Conference on English Leadership (CEL) members have been able to garner ideas about 21st-century writing instruction from Mike Rose, George Hillocks, Jr. and James Strickland (August 2009) and ideas about engaged reading instruction from Kylene Beers, Richard Allington, Tom Loveless and Mark Letcher (August 2013). I am proud that we have published articles that take up questions about race and racial literacy (February 2010) and the power of words (October 2008). I am proud that we have published articles about advocating for gang-related youth (October 2013) and protecting transgendered youth and other vulnerable young persons (February 2013). I am also proud that we have published teachers' original poetry (April 2010) students' writing (February 2011) and even letters to President Obama (February 2012).

We've accomplished a lot—you and I—in English Leadership Quarterly. I have learned we may not be the loudest voice in the cacophony of educational policy- and mandate-making, but we are a strong, consistent voice, and for that I am proud, too. Thank you, CEL members and readers, for trusting me with this work. It's been an honor to serve you.

I think you're confusing heir metal with glam rock Glam rock died out in the mid 70 s

As for 88 91 being dead for rock

Dire Streits
RHCP
White Zombie
Suicidal Tendencies
KMFDM
NIN (with Pretty Little Hate Machine, and Head Like a Hole were released during this period)
Cowboy Junkies
Primus
The Offspring
The Dead Milkmen
Pop Will Eat Itself
Matthew Sweet
Butthole Surfers
GWAR
Jane s Addiction

Let s see
Peter Murphy was still putting out albums
Rush put out several albums
The Greatful Dead were still releasing albums

Hell, Ice T formed Bodycount in 1990
Rage Against the Machine formed in 1991

Beastie Boys started to slip back into their punk roots to create a rock/rap fusion with Check Your Head, and cemented the sound in '93 s Ill Communication

Are you talking about what was played on the radio where you lived, or what was actually released, or what was worth listening? These things do not always align

Trade-First Subtraction Method

One method you can use to subtract is called the trade-first method. Here is the trade-first method for subtracting 2-digit or 3-digit numbers:

1. Look at the digits in the 10s place. If you cannot subtract these digits without getting a negative number, trade 1 hundred for 10 tens.
2. Look at the digits in the 1s place. If you cannot subtract these digits without getting a negative number, trade 1 ten for 10 ones.
3. Subtract in each column.

EXAMPLE Subtract 164 from 312 using the trade-first method.

100s	10s	1s
− 1	6	4

Look at the 10s place. You cannot remove 6 tens from 1 ten. So trade 1 hundred for 10 tens.

100s	10s	1s
2	11
~~3~~	~~1~~	2
− 1	6	4

Look at the 1s place. You cannot remove 4 ones from 2 ones. So trade 1 ten for 10 ones.

	10
2	~~11~~	12
~~3~~	~~1~~	~~2~~
− 1	6	4
1	4	8

Now subtract in each column.

Important Memo

The 925crd R.I.B. can be powered with the External jack using a 9v DC wall adapter. Do NOT leave a 9v battery in the chamber when you use external 9v DC power. The unit does not recharge a battery. Remove the 9volt battery before using the external power jack. Your battery could explode if you try to recharge it inside the unit and you may damage the R I.B.

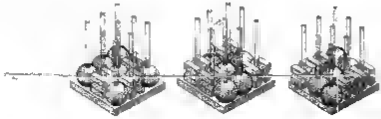
Объемные крестики-нолики

Объемные крестики-нолики — простая настольная игра для двух человек. Каждый игрок ставит свои фишки на свободные штырьки.

Цель игры выстроить ряд из 3 х фишек своей формы в линию по вертикали, горизонтали или диагонали в одной плоскости. Выигрывает тот игрок, который сумел выстроить больше своих рядов за три хода (3 слоя).

Если никто из игроков не построил ряд из 3-х фишек, игра заканчивается вничью.



Желаем удачи!

Hi There!

School is finally back in session and things are returning to normal... are you missing the kids yet? It's been refreshing to see all of the first day pictures on Facebook from around the area. We hope you're settling in to the new school year well.

The reason for this letter is to pass along this handy calendar for the 2014-2015 school year. It's an easy resource for you to have right on your refrigerator. The front outlines the days off for the kids and as a bonus, the backside contains some timely tips on home ownership and maintenance.

We're providing these for you as a way to introduce our company, RE/MAX Alliance, and to share some important news on the real estate market in Troy and the surrounding area. The market affects everyone, whether you're in the market or not, so we just wanted to make sure you have the knowledge. Here's a quick snapshot of the real estate market in 2014 so far.

The market in Madison County has been steady through the first half of the year, with the number of homes sold just slightly lower than last year. We attribute that mostly due to the harsh winter we started the year with (seems like such a long ago). The average price of a home sold in Madison County has increased 3.2% so that's great news for everyone! Foreclosures have returned to pre-recession levels and that puts less downward pressure on pricing.

There have been 137 homes sold in Troy through August 31st, an increase of 20.17% vs. the same period last year. Mortgage rates remain in the early 4% range so that helps to keep the market relatively stable.

Are you wondering how this affects you? Feel free to reach out to one of our more than 50 caring professionals with any questions. We have a team of agents serving Troy and we're here to assist you any way we can. Whether you're buying or selling, or you just have a real estate question, call Alliance...RE/MAX Alliance. Find us on the web at www.MetroEastLiving.com.

In closing, we wish the best of success for you and the children this school year. Thanks for reading and we'll look forward to hearing from you in the future.

Sincerely,

The Staff and Brokers of RE/MAX Alliance

Mission Possible works with at-risk children and their families in East Austin. At a young age children in the inner-city government housing communities are exposed to violence drug abuse and neglect that give way to fear low self esteem and hopelessness limiting their ability to succeed. They are at-risk because they are vulnerable to behaviors that are destructive to themselves and their communities. To help break this cycle of poverty, we work with local community leaders and partner to create long term sustainable community development. All of our programs provide relationships with positive caring adult role models. We provide an environment that offers physical safety, tangible support acceptance and love. Wa believe these factors are necessary to help at-risk children learn different behaviors and experience the love of Christ.

Our Father which art in heaven,
hallowed be thy name,
thy kingdom come
thy will be done,
on earth as it is in heaven
Give us this day our daily bread
And forgive us our trespasses,
as we forgive them that trespass against us
And lead us not into temptation
but deliver us from evil
[For thine is the kingdom,
the power, and the glory,
for ever and ever]

How to Install Your NuShield DayVue™

NuShield DayVue antireflective film will provide superior glare and scratch protection for electronic displays. Your display will show a noticeable improvement in readability in brightly lit environments.

IT IS CRUCIAL THAT YOU FOLLOW ALL INSTRUCTIONS TO GET A GOOD FILM INSTALLATION!!!
Not following the instructions correctly may result in trapped dirt that will appear as air bubbles under the film. Read the entire instruction set first before attempting to install the film. DayVue film must be fully installed with both masks removed to see the antireflective effect. Just placing the masked film against the screen will not show this property.

If you ordered the Cut to Fit Kit, the NuShield film maybe larger than the size of the area you want to protect. Please take the tracing paper provided, place it on your device and follow the instructions to cut the film to the correct size. Then follow the directions below to install.

Step 1. Your NuShield DayVue film is masked on two sides. A hazy mask covers the top surface and the clear mask covers the tacky side.
Step 2. Make certain that your film fits the display. Lay the film onto the display area to be certain that it is sized correctly. A small amount of play or gap on all sides to allow for easy installation is normal. If it does not fit correctly, do not attempt installation and contact us for instructions. If the film is larger than the screen and you wish to cut it, use sharp scissors.
Step 3. Clean the surface of your display with a damp, clean soft cloth or Klear Screen wet cloth. Wipe all areas of the screen, especially the edges and corners. Dry the screen with a soft dry cloth or the Klear Screen dry cloth.

NOTE: If the film is larger than 12" diagonal, we recommend that two people install the film. One to hold the film steady and the other to slowly apply the film while pushing out air bubbles.
Step 4. Remove the clear mask covering the tacky side by using a piece of adhesive tape to stick to the clear mask, pull back and remove this mask completely. Once the back side is exposed, hold the Film by the edges and position the exposed tacky side to the screen edges. Allow the film with the exposed back side to attach to the screen.
Step 5. Allow the exposed back side to adhere to the screen, using a finger to push air bubbles from the center to the edges. Be certain the film is properly aligned on the screen dimensions.
Step 6. Once you are happy with the installation, remove the hazy mask film covering the top surface using adhesive tape to grab and lift the remaining mask. You should now have a fully installed film.

Air bubbles that will not move or edges that lift are likely dirt trapped under the film. Please see the back of this page for instructions on how to remove the dirt. The process of removing bubbles can be accelerated by squeezing out the bubbles with a credit card.

Klean the surface with wet Klear Screen cloth first and then dry thoroughly.

Hold the film by the masked area and place on display

Push out any remaining bubbles for complete fit of the film eyes. Any liquid Refrigerant-12 which may accidentally escape is approximately 21°F (6°C) below zero. If liquid Refrigerant-12 should touch the eyes, serious damage could result. Always wear goggles to protect the eyes when opening refrigerant connections. If Refrigerant-12 liquid should strike the eye:

a. Call a doctor or eye specialist immediately and obtain treatment as soon as possible

b. DO NOT RUB THE EYE. Splash the affected area with quantities of cold water to gradually get the temperature above the freezing point.

c. The use of an antiseptic oil is helpful in providing a protective film over the eyeball to reduce the possibility of infection. Should liquid Refrigerant-12 come into contact with the skin, the injury should be treated the same as any skin which has been frostbitten or frozen

All Refrigerant-12 drums are shipped with a heavy metal screw cap. The purpose of the cap is to protect the valve

REFRIGERANT — 12 PRESSURE — TEMPERATURE RELATIONSHIP	°F	°C	(PSIG) kPa	ATMOSPHERIC PRESSURE	Oth Psi	°F	°C	(PSIG) kPa

The table below indicates the pressure of Refrigerant — 12 at various temperatures. For instance: a drum of Refrigerant at a temperature of 90°F (26.8°C) will have a pressure of 84.1 PSI (579.9 kPa). If it is heated to 120°F (51.8°C), the pressure will increase to 167.8 PSI (1154.5 kPa). It also can be used conversely to determine the temperature at which Refrigerant — 12 boils under various pressures. For example, at a pressure of 30.1 PSI (207.5 kPa), Refrigerant — 12 boils at 32°F (0°C).	-20	-28.9	2.4	18.5		60	15.5	67.7 397.8

PRÉCIS Indications for Use and Limitations.
Stucies indicate PRÉCIS is useful in almost specimens if components diagnosed with gastrointestinal stromal tumor or melanoma who are being considered or angered therapy. Result should be interpreted in conjunction with other laboratory and clinical findings. Performance characteristics refer to the analytical performance of the test. Pharmacophoric or clinical utility is based on well-established methods, but may be associated with drug efficacy or patient outcome. We may be able to provide physicians with tests by choose appropriate tests and to assure the convenience of ordering a multi-test profile does not prevent physicians from making informed decisions regarding which tests are medically necessary. Each of the tests offered by bioTheranostics has profile given also may be ordered individually using the bioTheranostics Test Requisition. No test was developed and performance characteristics have been determined by bioTheranostics, nor it has not been cleared or approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. This test is used for clinical purposes. It should not be regarded as investigational or for research. How the information reports guides patient care is the responsibility of the physician. bioTheranostics is certified under the Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendments of 1988 as qualified to perform high complexity clinical laboratory testing.

Mr Hansen

Thanks you for co[illegible]ng [illegible] offices landscaping in your new divisional headquarters We are pleased to submit our proposal-drawith for the concept phase as agreed earlier

Since your available area is somewhat limited, we suggest a modular layout This concept emphasizes space conservation and yet still provides for a modern, pleasing atmosphere

Enclosed are two floor plans The first one will allow you to keep your present furniture The second was designed with the intention that our new space-saving modules be used. Notice that the latter will provide for more spacious accommodations and/or room for additional personnel Also included are the specification sheets on these products

After you have had a chance to study our ideas I would like to set up a meeting during October to discuss any further refinements I will have my secretary make the arrangements, Please call me in the interim if you have any questions

Goodness of Fit

[Adapted from "The Practice of Statistics, 2e by Yates, Moore, Starnes]

This activity can be used to introduce the concept of Chi-square distributions and the 'Goodness of Fit' test. Using a bag of m&m's, you will compare the observed color counts to the expected color counts as noted by the m&m/Mars company.

Materials Needed:

- At least one 1.69oz bag of milk chocolate m&m's

Activity:

Read the statement from the m&m/Mars company Consumer Affairs Department and discuss what you would expect to see in a bag of m&m's if the statement is true. Open a bag and count the total number of candies (do not separate by color...yet). Using the total number of candies, have students calculate the expected number of each color based on the company's claim. Have them enter these numbers on their table.

Count each color and report these values to the students to enter on their tables. Discuss any differences or extreme values. Based on these counts, do we have evidence to suspect the claim may not be true?

Introduce the class to the concept of a "Goodness of Fit" test in which we can test how well an entire distribution of counts fits a hypothesized distribution. For each color have students calculate (Observed - Expected)²/Expected. Note any extreme values.

If the sample distribution does not vary much from the claimed proportions, these values should be close to zero. As the sample deviates more and more from the hypothesized distribution, these values will increase. The more extreme these values are, the less likely the sample is to be from the hypothesized distribution. Calculate the Chi-square test statistic by adding up all of the component values and determine the likelihood of observing a bag of m&m's with this color distribution assuming the company's claim is true.

m&m/Mars Company Consumer Affairs Department Announcement

"On average, the new mix of colors of m&m's plain chocolate candies will contain 30 percent browns, 20 percent yellows and reds, and 10 percent each of oranges, greens, and blues. While we mix the colors as thoroughly as possible, the above ratios may vary somewhat, especially in the smaller bags. This is because we combine the various colors in large quantities for the last production stage (forming). The bags are then filled on high-speed packaging machines by weight, not by count."

Approximation Algorithms

When creating an approximation algorithm:

- Restricted (rules of thumb) are frequently used
- The algorithm must always return a feasible solution.
- For a good approximation, $A(x)$ is normally for n. (or sometimes very close by.)

When proving that an appending A is an approximation algorithm, you must show that:

- A computes only feasible elements
- Last known bound for A is how (constant, log log n or log n)

Restricted TSP

Problem: Traveling Salesperson.
Inputs: $G = (V, E, c)$ where, $\forall u, v \in V$, $c(u, v)$ is the cost between u and v.
Output: find a tour of all vertices with minimum cost.

Problem: Restricted TSP (TSPRA)
Same as above, but the costs satisfy the triangle inequality:
That is to say: for all vertices u, v and w

$$c(u, w) \leq c(u, v) + c(v, w)$$

Often occurs in many applications, but not always true (airfare, for example).

Theorem: (TSPRA) is NP-complete

Refresher: Minimum Spanning Trees

Definition: Given a graph G with subgraph edges, a spanning tree T of an unrelated subgraph of G that connects all vertices.

Definition: The minimum spanning tree T of a graph G is one that approximates the sum of the weights:

$$w(T) = \sum_{(u,v) \in T} c(u, v)$$

Theorem: Let G be a graph over a minimal Prim's algorithm finds the spanning tree in $O(n^2)$ (better if we use careful).

Proof: CLRS, Chap 23, p678

Refresher: Preorder Walk

Full Preorder Walk: 1 4 7 4 1 2 5 2 6 2 3 1
Preorder Walk: 1 4 7 5 2 3 6

Refresher: Preorder Walk

Definition: The following procedure lists the vertices of a tree T in preorder (as a full preorder by adding a second "print")

Procedure PreorderWalk( T )
  { T is a pointer to the root of a tree}
  If T not null then print nodelabel(T)
    For all children c of T do
      PreorderWalk(c)
      {full preorder: print nodelabel(T)} else
    return

Approximate TSP

1- Find a minimal spanning tree.
2- Travel the nodes, preorder walk.
   a - b c b - d e f g
3- Use the preorder walk to create a tour.

Procedure approx tsp( G , C )
  Tree = the least cost(G,C)
  L = Preorder(Tree)
  Tour = the cycle traced by L return Tour

Driver Responsibility Program (DRP)

This program was developed to encourage safe driving habits and requires DPS assess surcharges to individuals based on certain traffic offenses. These surcharges are assessed in two ways: a point system and conviction based.

- Points are assessed for Texas or out of state moving violation convictions: two (2) points for a conviction, and three (3) points for a conviction that resulted in a crash. Individuals are assessed a point surcharge annually if they maintain six (6) or more points on their driver record.
- A Conviction-based surcharge is a result of being convicted of Driving While Intoxicated, No Driver License, Driving While License Invalid, and No Insurance. Points are not assessed for these specific offenses. A conviction based surcharge will be assessed annually for three (3) years from the date of conviction. An individual can also pay all three (3) years in advance. DPS also offers programs that may reduce or waive surcharges. For more information about DRP, please visit: http://www.dps.texas.gov/DriverLicense/drp.htm To check your driver status please visit: https://txapps.texas.gov/txapp/txdps/dlelig/dlstatus.jsp Please note: Surcharges are in addition to other fees and do not replace a suspension, revocation, denial, disqualification or cancellation resulting from the same conviction.

If you have questions or need to make special arrangements to accommodate a disability, prior to visiting a driver license office, please email us using our secure website at www.dps.texas.gov/contact.htm or call us at (512) 424-2600.

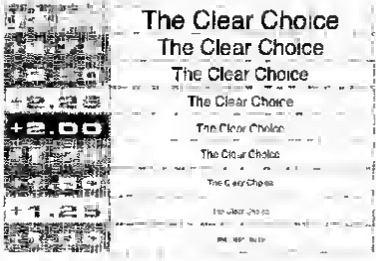
Remove your glasses and step back approximately 14 inches away from the eye test chart. Read the lines starting at the top, the first line that you have trouble reading has the lens strength to the left. That is your correct strength. All glasses on this display have the strength indicated on them and are color-coded to make finding your strength easier.



Attention: Ready-to-wear non-prescription glasses are not intended to replace prescribed corrective lenses or examinations by an optometrist or physician. Our free vision eye chart is a reference guide to help you find the right strength and power.

What does the FAX say?

Apology of Socrates (Apologia Sokratous) ('Socrates' Defence')

1. Plato's version of three speeches made by Socrates in 399 BC in the Athenian law-courts answering the charge of impiety that was brought against him by Meletus on behalf of the poets. Anytus on behalf of the craftsmen and politicians, and Lycon on behalf of the orators. How far it represents Socrates' actual words is unknown.

In the first speech, the actual defence, Socrates distinguishes between previous vague accusations (that he speculated about questions of cosmology and physics, and made the 'worse cause'—or 'weaker argument'—appear the better) and the charge of impiety now being brought. On the former, he explains that he is neither a scientist nor a sophist, his only wisdom consists in knowing that he knows nothing. At the instigation of the Delphic oracle, he has sought constantly to find a wiser man than himself, but has found none. He has gone to those who had a reputation for wisdom, who finding they had none, has tried to convince them of the fact. Young men imitate these questionings and examine other people themselves. This has provoked popular enmity and given rise to these accusations. Socrates turns next to Meletus and cross-examines him on his specific charge that he Socrates corrupts the youth and does not accept the city's gods. He then addresses the judges and declares himself unrepentant: he will persist in the practices people nod of for he must continue in obedience to the god (of the Delphic oracle Apollo) to preach the necessity of virtue. If they kill him, they will be injuring themselves, for he is the gadfly sent by the gods to stir Athens to life.

At the end of this defence the jury delivers its verdict: Socrates has been convicted and the penalty the prosecutors propose is death. Socrates replies to their proposal (he assumes a more serious tone (though his argument is paradoxical (not to say highly provocative). Why should he propose an alternative punishment? As a benefactor of Athens he ought to be rewarded. Imprisonment, exile, a fine would certainly be evils, but as for death he does not know whether it is good or bad. Nevertheless he suggests a fine of 30 minas, which his friends will guarantee since he himself has no money.

This proposal is put to the jury, who reject it, and Socrates is sentenced to death. There follows a brief third speech to the jury in which he prophesies that many will arise after his death to condemn his judges. He comforts his friends with regard to his own fate: death is either a dreamless sleep or a journey to a place of true justice where he will be able to converse with Homer and the heroes. Nothing evil can happen to a good man. If he is to die, it must be better for him. He forgives the accusers and judges. (Such an address after the conclusion of a case is otherwise unknown in Athenian law-suits.)

2. A brief account by Xenophon of Socrates' defence in the same trial. At the time Xenophon was taking part in the expedition of Cyrus (see ANABASIS), and he ostensibly relies on the authority of Hermogenes, a friend of Socrates who is mentioned in Plato's Phaedo as present at the death. This account is intended to bring out especially the self-confidence with which Socrates spoke and his willingness to die. His pleas are here stated with less elaboration than by Plato.

Work Requested: Tech OS to change digital line into analog line in order to hook up fax machine.

We need to move our fax machine to a different location in the office. The problem is that there are no analog lines in that area. However, there is a digital line. I was wondering if we could get someone out here to turn that digital line into an analog line at the punch panel so we can hook up the fax machine

GODD BUZZ

The Mad, unexpurgated Ramblings of a Middle Aged Man of Elegance & Distinction

A Man goes to the Mad Hatter for his weekly holiday tidbit from the capital of Fun, leisure and all That Funny Stuff.

Last Saturday evening I was a little mystified by my Cable Guide Decoder, which caused me to miss the Jeremy Paxman interview with Tony Blair. Instead I found myself watching a programme about Cookery. Now I'm not a great fan of cookery programmes, I find them rather boring, but I was intrigued by the fact that the chef was a man called Heston Blumenthal, who apparently has a restaurant in Bray, Berkshire, which has been voted the best restaurant in the world.

Now I've been to Bray a few times in my life, and I've never noticed a restaurant of any description, let alone the best in the world. Perhaps I've been going to the wrong pubs.

Anyway, I digress. Heston Blumenthal is a self-taught chef who specialises in what he calls "experimental cookery". He's not content with simply producing delicious food, he wants to push the boundaries of gastronomy. He's a bit like Jamie Oliver, only with a degree in chemistry.

Heston's latest project is to recreate the dishes served at banquets in the Middle Ages. Now I'm not sure how many banquets you've been to recently, but I'm pretty sure that the menu hasn't changed much since the Middle Ages. I'm not sure I'd want it to change either. I'm quite partial to a bit of roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, and I'm not sure that the Middle Ages would have been the best time to have been a vegetarian.

Heston's first dish was a boar's head, which was stuffed with a pig, which was stuffed with a chicken, which was stuffed with a duck, which was stuffed with a goose, which was stuffed with a turkey. It looked like a Russian doll from hell. Then he served a dish of roasted peacock, which looked like a turkey with a bad hair day.

Heston's final dish was a recreation of a Tudor feast, which included a dish called "Subtlety". This was a sugar sculpture of St George and the Dragon, which was then eaten by the diners. I'm not sure what St George would have made of that.

Heston's experiments with food are fascinating, and I'm sure that his restaurant is a wonderful place to eat, but I'm not sure that I'd want to eat there every day. I'm quite happy with my fish and chips, thank you very much.

Wild fer pet makes pownd cake all mad adventurous.

Strawberry-and-Wild Fennel Compote with Pownd Cake

Serves 2

Active: 25 minutes; Total: 1 hour 5 minutes

Fennel's delicate flavor pairs beautifully with strawberries. Pound cake is the classic accompaniment, but you can also serve the compote with ladyfingers, shortbread cookies, or even vanilla ice cream.

POUND CAKE

- 2 sticks unsalted butter, softened, plus more for the pan
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- ½ cup whole-wheat pastry flour
- ½ cup whole-grain spelt flour
- 1 cup sugar
- Finely grated zest of 2 oranges
- 4 large egg yolks
- 2 large eggs
- 1¼ cups sugar

COMPOTE

- 2 small, young wild fennel bulbs (or 1 small one), stems and fronds reserved, bulbs cored and thinly sliced
- ½ cup fresh orange juice (2 oranges), strained and zest reserved

Salt

- 1 pound small strawberries, sliced
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons fennel fronds, finely chopped

Whipped cream, for garnishing (optional)

Adapted from Nina Planck

1. Make the pound cake: Preheat the oven to 350°. Butter one 9-inch-by-5-inch loaf pan. In the bowl of a stand mixer fitted with the paddle attachment, beat the butter with the sugar until pale and fluffy, about 3 minutes. Add the orange zest. Until combined, beat in the eggs one at a time, scraping down the bowl after each addition. Add the flours and beat just until incorporated, about 30 seconds. Scrape the batter into the prepared pan and smooth the top.

2. Bake the cake until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean, 50 to 55 minutes. Let cool in the pan for 30 minutes, then turn out onto a wire rack to cool completely.

3. Make the compote: In a large bowl, combine the fennel, orange juice, and a pinch of salt. Let stand for 10 minutes. Add the strawberries and sugar and toss to combine. Let stand for 30 minutes more. Add the fennel fronds and toss to combine. Serve the cake with the compote, whipped cream, if desired, and the reserved fennel fronds.

The U.S.-EU trade and investment relationship, what many call the transatlantic economy, is not only the largest in the world but also arguably the most important because of its sheer size. As shown in Table 2 the flows of merchandise or goods trade, services trade, and income across the Atlantic manifest a very active, strong, and large economic relationship. In 2010 alone a total of $1,537.4 billion flowed between the United States and the EU, or an average of $4.2 billion per day.

Table 2. U.S. Current Account Balance with the EU, 2010

(billions of dollars)

Transaction	Totals
U.S. Exports of Goods and Services	472.8
U.S. Imports of Goods and Services	646.2
U.S. Income Receipts (derived from U.S. assets, including direct and portfolio investments and government securities)	247.8
U.S. Income Payments (derived from EU assets, including direct and portfolio investments and government securities)	206.5
Total Current Account Flows	1,537.4
Daily average flow based on the current account	4.2

Sources: U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Economic Analysis, U.S. International Transactions Accounts Data, http://www.bea.gov

Notes: The current account is the most comprehensive measure of U.S. international trade and financial transaction with the world. Net unilateral transfers (government grants, pensions, and private remittances) totaling -$4.6 billion are not included in this table.

With a combined population slightly over 818 million or about 12% of the world's population, the two partners produce around 50 percent of the world's GDP. Combined with bilateral trade flows in goods and services that account for 40% of the world total, the magnitude of transatlantic economic transactions means that the two sides have significant influence and leadership responsibilities in the world economy. Agreement and cooperation between the two partners in the past has been critical to making the global trading system more open and efficient.

The high degree of transatlantic economic interdependence, however, carries some downside risks as demonstrated by the 2008 financial crisis which started in the United States and was then transmitted to Europe. As the U.S. economy is now recovering from the deep recession, EU members Greece, Ireland, Portugal, and Spain are struggling to address sovereign debt crises which are slowing Europe's economic growth and recovery. With a significant stake in European economic growth, there is a concern that U.S. exports may be adversely affected at a time when the Obama Administration hopes to double U.S. exports by 2015.[1]

Given the magnitude of commercial interaction, trade disputes are not unexpected. Policymakers tend to maintain that the United States and the EU always have more in common than in dispute, and like to point out that trade disputes usually affect a small fraction (often estimated at 1-2

As I was walking up the stair
I met a man who wasn't there
He wasn't there again today
Oh how I wish he'd go away

When I came home last night at three
The man was waiting there for me
But when I looked around the hall
I couldn't see him there at all!
Go away, go away, don't you come back any more!
Go away, go away, and please don't slam the door

Last night I saw upon the stair
A little man who wasn't there
He wasn't there again today
Oh how I wish he'd go away

PLEASE READ THIS FIRST!

The installation and operation of the SignaLink USB is straightforward and relatively simple. However, the installation process—including setting of the audio levels—is completely different from previous SignaLink models and other interfaces. It is essential that you read through this document and the Installation Manual. If you do not take the time to do this, then you may find that some rather simple things have caused you some unnecessary trouble. Please take some time to read these notes and the manual before installing the SignaLink USB!

- WINDOWS 8 / WINDOWS 7 / WINDOWS VISTA USERS - Instructions for configuring Windows 8, Windows 7 and Windows Vista are available on the SignaLink Support page of our web site at www.tigertronics.com
- WINDOWS ME/2000/XP USERS - To avoid possible sample rate offset errors, we suggest changing the sample rate in your communication program (DigiPan, Mix Meter) from 11025 Hz to 12000 Hz. If your program uses a different sample rate (8000 Hz, etc.) or if you are using a different Operating System (Windows 98SE, Vista, Windows 7, etc.) then you do not need to do this.
- OPENING THE SIGNALINK CASE - You will need to open the SignaLink case to configure the unit for your radio. The procedure for doing this is easy, but completely different from earlier SignaLink models. Please read the "Opening The SignaLink USB Case" section of the manual BEFORE attempting to open the case.
- SIGNALINK USB DRIVERS - When the SignaLink USB is connected to the computer, the Windows, MAC, or Linux Operating System will automatically detect and install the required drivers. Your Operating System Installation CD will not be needed unless you are running Windows 98. If you are running Windows 98, then you MUST have your Windows Installation CD available, or you will not be able to install the SignaLink USB.
- SOUND CARD SELECTION - Because the SignaLink USB has its own built-in sound card, you will want to configure Windows to play its "System" sounds through your computer's sound card instead of the SignaLink USB. Your communications program can then be configured to use only the SignaLink USB. This is very easy to do and is covered step-by-step in the "Sound Card Selection" section of the SignaLink Installation Manual.
- JUMPER SETTINGS / PLUG & PLAY JUMPER MODULES - Printed jumper settings are provided with some SignaLink radio cables. If you did not receive printed jumper settings with your cable, then please check the "Jumper Settings" section of the SignaLink CD or our web site. If you do not find your radio listed, then you will need to follow the jumper installation procedure in the SignaLink manual. You can also contact Technical Support with the pin-out information for your radio and they will instruct you on how to install the jumpers (please have your radio manual available). If you have purchased a Plug & Play Jumper Module, you will be installing it in place of the jumper wires. Instructions for doing this can be found on our web site at www.tigertronics.com/simodules.htm
- JUMPER WIRES - We have provided cut and stripped jumper wires for configuring your radio connections. Be sure to use the wires that we have provided. The wires must be #24 gauge to fit properly in the socket. Any other size may damage the socket. The wires that we have supplied are quite durable and can be reused many times. However, you need to take care not to break a wire off in the socket as there is no way to remove a broken end, and the SignaLink would have to be returned to the factory to have the socket replaced (not covered under Warranty).
- SIGNALINK SOFTWARE CD (PC only) - Some customers may not be familiar with the "Mini-CD" disk format that we have provided. All CDROM drives with a slide-out tray will accept this small footprint CD (it cannot be used with "slot" type CDROM drives). Place the CD in the small circular recess area in the bottom of your drive tray. The CD should seat properly and not slide around. When you insert the CD into your computer it should "AutoStart" after a few seconds, and display the opening screen in your web browser. If it does not, then you will need to start your web browser and open the "STARTCD.HTM" file manually. If you are unable to access the CD for any reason, the same software (plus much more) can be downloaded from the "SignaLink Software" page of our web site at www.tigertronics.com. Note that this CD is NOT required for installation. It is provided only as a convenience to help you get started. If you are using a MAC then you will need to download MAC software from the above mentioned page of our web site.

At present a request for density output cards in a sensitometric computations run yields density cards corresponding to densitometer densities. If the test code used involves E N D conversions, the density output cards must be run through a separate convers on program to correspond[illegible] densities corresponding to individual strips are punched wh[illegible] desired

I prop[illegible] density card output is requested, plotted densities are p[illegible] d simply be the average densities If the test code calls for E N D conversion, it would be the E N D densities that are punched out. If the test breaks down e g because of range check failure we would get cards punched out for individual strips since individuals are plotted in that case.

I would appreciate your comments on this proposal by January 2 1971

Don't Go To Sleep Yet...

Eight Things You Need to Know About Your New Mattress

Your new mattress is NOT fire-proof

Although your new mattress meets the safety standards set by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, it will burn if ignited.

Compared to older mattresses, your new mattress will ignite more slowly and will burn more slowly, giving you more time to escape.

1. Don't sleep in bed. This is a common cause of fatal bedroom fires.

2. Keep matches and lighters away from children. Playing with fire can be deadly.

3. Using candles in a bedroom is literally asking for trouble. Even a small candle can ignite a nearby fire.

Troubleshooting Tips

Troubleshooting Tips
Save time and money!

Problem	Possible Causes	What to Do
Dehumidifier does not start	The dehumidifier is unplugged.	■ Make sure the dehumidifier's plug is pushed completely into the outlet.
	The fuse is blown or the breaker is tripped.	■ Check the house fuse/circuit breaker box and reset or replace the fuse as needed. See the Caution below.
	Dehumidistat or fan reached its preset level or bucket is full.	■ The dehumidifier automatically turns off when it has reached the preset level or the bucket is full.
	Bucket is not in the proper position.	■ See Installing the Water Bucket earlier.
Dehumidifier doesn't dry the air as it should	Did not allow enough time to remove the moisture.	■ When first installed, allow at least 24 hours to remove the moisture.
	Airflow is restricted.	■ Make sure there are no obstructions to the front or back grille. See the Cleaning & Maintenance section.
	The Humidity Control may not be set low enough.	■ Press the Humidity Control ▼ pad to lower the humidity setting.
	Doors and windows may not be closed tightly.	■ Check that all doors, windows and other openings are securely closed.
	Clothes dryer may be leaking hot air/moisture into the room.	■ Install the dryer vent hose. See the dryer manufacturer's instructions.
	Room temperature is too low.	■ Moisture removal is best at higher room temperatures. Lower room temperatures will not remove the moisture as well. The unit is designed to operate at temperatures above 65°F (18°C).
Dehumidifier runs too much	Area to be dehumidified is too large.	■ Refer to the chart below to see if the capacity of your dehumidifier is adequate.
	Doors and windows are open.	■ Close all doors and windows to the outside.
Frost appears on the coils	Dehumidifier has been recently turned on or room temperature is below 65°F (18°C).	■ If it is normal, frost will gradually appear on the coils. Within 60 minutes after defrosting, the unit will automatically restart.
Fan noises	Air is moving through the dehumidifier.	■ This is normal.
Water on floor	Bucket is not in place or connections may be loose.	■ Check the bucket once re-inserted.
	Water bucket is not all of the way in.	■ See the Emptying the Water Bucket section.

NATURAL TREATMENTS

VARROA MITES

1 Put 5-8 drops of Thyme oil in 16 ounces of mineral oil, shake it up and squirt it on a paper towel making a double SS Then put it in the hive on top of the frames up till 3 weeks before the honey flow and anytime after the honey flow

2 Mix 1 Tablespoon of garlic powder with 1 cup of water in a blender on low speed for 2-3 minutes Add the cup of blended mixture to a gallon of sugar water, mix by shaking, and feed it to the bees in early spring up till 3 weeks before the honey flow Can be used again in the fall after the honey flow

3 Put 4 ounces of granulated sugar per deep hive box into a blender on low speed in order to make your own powdered sugar The powdered sugar that you buy in the stores contains corn starch which the bees cannot digest. Place the 4 ounces of home made powdered sugar into a baggie Use one 4 oz baggie to a deep box and 3 ounces per medium box. The next time that you are in your bee yard dump the sugar onto the top of the frames Use a new paint brush (must be a foam type) to brush the powder off of the frames onto the bees early in the morning or late in the evening 4 times at 10 days apart starting in late August and continuing into September Best to have screen bottom boards for this with a tray underneath to catch the powdered sugar dust. Then put the dust in the freezer for 48 hours to kill the mites For a solid bottom board, place a piece of cardboard on to it to catch the dust. Then remove the cardboard and put dust in to the freezer for 48 hours to kill the mites This is done so that the bees won't play in the sugar and take the mites back into the hive with them

4 Use 20-25 drops of Thyme oil in 16 ounces of mineral oil if you use a fogger for mite control. Walk by the landing board, hold fogger 6" from the entrance for 5 to 10 seconds and then move on to the next hive

5 A very effective treatment for Varroa mites on artificially sized 5 4 bees and the natural 4 9 bees is the wintergreen oil study found at www.wvu.edu/~agexten/varroa/varroa2.htm

LAW ENFORCEMENT POLICY STATEMENT

Policy No. OIR	Subject: Weapons Carry		Page 1 of 1
Supersedes No.	Effective Date 09/1/2011	Authority Chief of Law Enforcement
Reference			Revised.

16-11-126

The intent of this OIR is to insure uniformity statewide in regards to checking individuals for a Weapons Carry License. A carry license holder may possess/carry a weapon in all parks, historic sites, on recreational areas, including all publicly owned buildings located in such parks, historic sites, and recreation areas, in wildlife management areas, on public fishing areas, and on public transportation, provided that a person shall not carry a handgun into a place where it is prohibited by federal law

Any person with a valid hunting/fishing license and is legally hunting, fishing, or sport shooting is not required to have a carry license to carry a weapon provided they have permission from the land owner

The mere possession of a weapon in any of the above-mentioned areas does not constitute a basis to check for a weapon s carry license. An officer may check for a weapons carry license when he or she is able to articulate why there was sufficient reasoning to question if the subject is legally carrying a weapon. On a state park or historic site, if the individual is unable or refuses to produce a weapons carry license when asked, the officer may charge the individual with possession of a firearm on a state park (12-3-10)

When an officer feels the necessity to ask for a weapons carry license he or she may temporarily seize the weapon, but must be able to articulate that the suspect is dangerous and the suspect may gain immediate control of the weapon (The State v Jones, 289 Ga. App. 175 (2008)

RSA uses huge integers, sometimes upwards of 2048 bits. JavaScript's native support for integers tops out at 53 bits, so we've wrapped up Leemon's awesome [BigInt.js library][26] into _crypto_math.js_ to give us those extra bits. Keep in mind:

* _crypto_math.js_ is required for all RSA functionality
* The values used for public and private keys are BigInts, and cannot be treated like normal integers. This should be transparent to you, assuming you use CowCrypt's built-in RSA functions.

You can parse a BigInt value from a string of digits as follows:

```javascript var big_int = new BigInt().parse("6123458345023485527793");

Threaded Key Generation

CowCrypt can generate 2048- or 3072-bit RSA keys. The process is CPU-intensive and can take from several seconds to over a minute, depending on the hardware used. To prevent the browser from becoming unresponsive, RSA key generation must be done in a separate thread. This allows the algorithms to work in the background without impacting perceived browser performance. See the [Threaded RSA Key Generation and Decryption][25] tutorial for more information.

Handling RSA Keys

The non-threaded RSA encryption / decryption methods in the _RSA_ class expect you to pass an _RSAKey_ object. This object holds the BigInt values associated with a public or private key. Private keys have some optional properties that store additional data about how the key was generated. This will be useful for serializing OpenPGP key data packets once support for that is implemented. ;)

```javascript
// The threaded key generation process will generate all these input values var key = new RSAKey({
    n: key_modulus,             // required for all keys
    e: public_exponent,         // required for public keys
    d: private_exponent,        // required for private keys
    p: large_prime_p,           // optional for private keys
    q: large_prime_q,           // optional for private keys
    u: mult_inverse_p_mod_q     // optional for private keys
});

RSA Encryption

CowCrypt uses the EME-PKCS1-v1_5 encoding method for RSA plaintexts specified in [RFC-4880][28] (the OpenPGP spec). This is can encrypt messages up to 11 bytes less than the byte-length of the modulus, and is useful for symmetric key establishment (a la OpenPGP).

```javascript
var public_key  = {YOUR RSAKey Instance Here}; var plaintext   = "Your time is up. I will no longer play for you.";
var ciphertext  = new RSA().encrypt(plaintext, public_key)

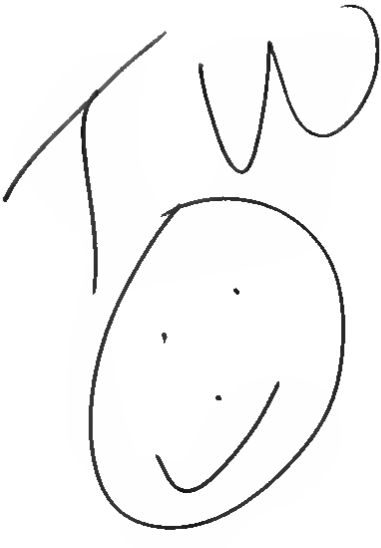
RSA Decryption

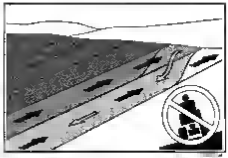


Driving on slopes

Driving on slopes is one of the operations where the risk of the driver losing control of the machine or of it overturning is the greatest. This can result in serious injury or death. All slopes demand extra care. If you cannot reverse up a slope and you feel unsure, do not mow it.

Proceed as follows.

- Remove obstacles such as stones, branches, etc.
- Mow upwards and downwards, not sideways.
- Do not use the machine on ground that slopes more than 15°
- Avoid starting or stopping on a slope. If the tyres start to slip, stop the blades and drive slowly down the slope
- Always drive smoothly and slowly on slopes.
- Do not make any sudden changes in speed or direction
- Avoid unnecessary turns on slopes. If necessary, turn slowly and gradually downwards if possible
- Watch out for and avoid driving over furrows, holes and bumps. It is easier for the machine to overturn on uneven ground. Tall grass can hide obstacles.
- Drive slowly. Do not turn the wheel sharply. The machine engine-b akes better in low gear



Mow upwards and downwards on slopes, no sideways

Before completing this form, carefully read the entire form, particularly Sections 7, 8, and 9. Type or print using dark ink. If you need help completing this form, contact your loan holder(s). Return the completed form and any required documentation to the address shown in Section 10. You may be able to complete your request online by visiting studentloans.gov. 1 Please select the reason that you are completing the request by checking box a, b, or c, below.

a. ☐ I am requesting a repayment plan based on my income – Check the plan(s) you are requesting below and then continue to item 2.

	Direct Loan Program Loans*	FFEL Program Loans*

3 My spouse and I intend to repay our Direct Loans jointly under the ICR Plan.

If you completed this section, your spouse is also required to sign this form. In addition, if the Department is not your loan holder and your FFEL loan holder(s) does not service at least one of your spouse's loans, your loan holder(s) will need detailed information about all of your spouse's loans to accurately evaluate your eligibility and payment amount. Your spouse should log into NSLDS at nslds.ed.gov to give your loan holder(s) access to his or her loan information. The Title IV loan organization code needed for authorization on NSLDS or for other options to provide the loan details needed on your spouse's loans, contact your loan holder(s).

Testing Your HP Fax Machine with the HP Fax Test Service

Print Share Feedback

Introduction

This document will assist you in testing your HP Fax machine using the HP Fax Test Service. Print this document for easy reference by clicking the Printable Version link in the upper right corner of this page.

Test your fax machine

To test the capability of your fax machine, follow the directions below.

NOTE: Be sure that your phone number is not Caller ID blocked by your telephone company prior to attempting to send and receive a fax. Pressing *82 before dialing the toll free number will unblock the Caller ID blocking feature in most areas. Other phone company services can prevent you from receiving a fax, including voice mail, call blocking, or call privacy features.

NOTE: Whenever troubleshooting a fax issue, it is good practice to set the Automatic Reports option to Every Error before attempting a test fax. This way, even if the sent fax fails, an error code will be generated that will guide you in future troubleshooting. This option is available in different places on different products, consult the product User's Guide for specific steps.

1. Send a one page black and white test fax to 1-866-hpfaxme (1-866-473-2963)
2. When your fax is received by the HP Test Fax Service, we will generate a return fax to you within five minutes confirming that we received your fax. This verifies that you can both send and receive a fax with your fax machine

If you do not receive a return fax within 5-7 minutes, there may be a problem with the setup of your fax machine. Consult the user manual that came with the product for proper setup and configuration.

NOTE: The most common cause of failure is that the fax number set in the Fax Header on the machine does not match the number at the phone line connected to the fax. Also, ensure that

Adobe Acrobat PDF Files

Adobe® Portable Document Format (PDF) is a universal file format that preserves all of the fonts, formatting, colours and graphics of any source document, regardless of the applications and platform used to create it.

Adobe PDF is an ideal format for electronic document distribution as it overcomes the problems commonly encountered with electronic file sharing.

- Anyone, anywhere can open a PDF file. All you need is the free Adobe Acrobat Reader. Recipients of other file formats sometimes can't open files because they don't have the applications used to create the documents.
- PDF files always print correctly on any printing device.
- PDF files always display exactly as created, regardless of fonts, software, and operating systems. Fonts, and graphics are not lost due to platform, software, and version incompatibilities.
- The free Acrobat Reader is easy to download and can be freely distributed by anyone.
- Compact PDF files are smaller than their source files and download a page at a time for fast display on the Web.

Index returns does not represent Fund returns. An investment cannot be made in the Index.

The Fund's investment objective is to track the price and yield performance, before fees and expenses, of the International Dividend Achievers™ Index. The Fund generally will invest at least 90% of its total assets in the securities that comprise the Index. The Fund may also invest in securities not included in the Index that the Adviser believes will help the Fund track the Index. The Fund is non-diversified.

The Fund generally will rebalance its portfolio to correspond generally to the weightings in the Index at the close of business on the last business day of each month. The Fund will reconstitute its portfolio annually to correspond generally to the Index. The Fund does not charge redemption fees or transaction fees. However, brokerage commissions and other fees to financial intermediaries may be charged to investors who buy and sell Fund shares. Information regarding how often shares of the Fund traded on the NYSE Arca at a premium or discount is available at www.invescopowershares.com.

Shares are not individually redeemable and owners of the Shares may acquire those Shares from the Fund and tender those Shares for redemption to the Fund in Creation Unit aggregations only, typically consisting of 100,000 Shares.

[1] Alpha, beta, volatility, correlation and Sharpe ratio are calculated using monthly returns for the 5-year period. Alpha is a measure of the difference between a fund's actual returns and its expected performance, given its level of risk as measured by beta. A positive alpha figure indicates the fund has performed better than its beta would predict. In contrast, a negative alpha figure indicates the fund has performed worse than its beta would predict. Beta is a measure of the fund's sensitivity to market movements. Correlation is a measure of the extent to which two securities move in relation to each other. Sharpe ratio is a measure of risk-adjusted performance calculated by subtracting the risk-free rate from the rate of return for a portfolio and dividing the result by the standard deviation of the portfolio returns. Volatility is a statistical measure of the dispersion of returns for a given security or market index. Volatility can either be measured by using the standard deviation or variance between returns from that security or market index. Commonly, the higher the volatility, the riskier the security.

Subject: Density Output Cards

At present a request for densitometer output cards in a densitometer computations run yields density cards corresponding to densitometer densities. If the test code used involves E N D conversions the output cards will be punched through a separate conversion program to correspond to individual strips are punched

I prop ity card output is requested plotted densities are punched out. It simply be the average densities If the test code calls for E N D conversion it would be the E N D densities that are punched out If the test breaks down e.g. because of range check failure, we would get cards punched out for individual strips, since individuals are plotted in that case

I would appreciate your comments on this proposal by January 2, 1971

Technical Note

FLX – VoIP

Registering with Cisco UCM

Date: May 15th 2012

This technical note gives a detailed description on how to register a Revolabs FLX conference phone with a Cisco Unified Communications Manager (CUCM). First an account for FLX has to be created on the CUCM. Then using either the FLX handset or FLX web UI the FLX will need to register with the CUCM. This document describes how to perform both of these steps.

To perform the tasks described in this document the user needs to have administrative rights on the CUCM. While the steps in this document are not difficult, we recommend that a trained CUCM administrator should perform them.

The instructions and screen shots provided here were prepared using CUCM version 8.5.1.13900-5. Other versions of the CUCM may differ, though the general procedures are the same.

Configuring Cisco Unified Communications Manager for FLX Registration

To prepare the CUCM for the FLX Conference phone several steps will have to be performed. These steps are the same required for any third party SIP device.

- Login to the CUCM Console
- Create a directory number
- Add a user
- Add a phone device
- Associate the device with the user

1 Login to the CUCM Console

Using a web browser, browse to the CUCM and click on the Cisco Unified Communications Manager link.

Number Porting to Google Voice™

Back to Tutorials

This tutorial will guide you through the process of porting a non-mobile number to Google Voice. Once your number is ported, you can continue the number has been ported to the OBi with Google Voice.

Note: Google does not support porting non-mobile numbers to Google Voice directly. This requires a two-step process that we will describe in greater detail below. In essence, you will first port your number to a mobile service number and then the mobile service number (or virtually the original number) to become your Google Voice number.

Before you begin, do this first!
Before you begin the process to convert your land line number to a mobile number, be further porting in Google Voice, perform a "sanity check" on the number using the Google Voice Number Porting Tool. Click Here to access the tool. When you enter your land line number you will see one of the following messages:

Msg: Cool! This number appears to be from a provider we don't currently support.
For some area codes Google Voice does not support porting, e.g. Hazel (Ohio), Alaska (907). If you get this result when you enter your land line number you will not be able to port you number in Google Voice. Time to move on to complete the steps below.

Msg: Cool! We currently don't support porting from your carrier. We apologize that we are working on adding support for more carriers. This is actually good news, because once you land line number is ported to a mobile service, it will be able to be ported to Google's Voice. Please continue reading and follow the steps below to support your land line number to a mobile number. Then you can port it to become your Google Voice number.

Important Note: Google Voice cannot be used to place or receive emergency services calls.
Requirements: An unlocked mobile phone (with SIM card access) and a pre-paid SIM card from T-Mobile available here (link)

1. Check if your number can be ported or transferred by T-Mobile. (link here to check)
2. If your number is eligible for transfer, buy a prepaid T-Mobile SIM card from T-Mobile here (link) or at any authorized T-Mobile dealer. This will cost approximately $3 to $7. Select the cheapest to the right to purchase from Amazon.
3. When you receive the prepaid SIM card, activate the SIM card using the instructions included in the package. You will choose a new (temporary) number and PIN. Insert the SIM card into an unlocked phone and a test call — call to and out.
4. Call T-Mobile's activation department at 1-800-917-8937. Request to port your old number to your new prepaid SIM created.
5. In 1 to 3 days you will receive confirmation that the number porting complete. Check to see that the number is working properly — E.g. Your old number is now the mobile number.
6. Go to your Google Voice account and request to port your T-Mobile number to Google Voice. The request to port link is found in "Voice Settings". Look for the "Change/Port" link (click here for example screen shot). Google will charge a one-time fee of $20 for this service. You will need to provide your T-Mobile account number which is your ported number, e.g. transaction data and your PIN. Note: Use your newly ported T-Mobile number — not the number you choose when activating the SIM card. Google will call the mobile number for authorization purposes, so be sure to have your unlocked phone in which you inserted the prepaid SIM card.
7. In 3 to 5 days, Google will email you to confirm the porting is complete.

You may now start using your old number with Google Voice as your new OBi!

Test FAX machine instructions

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here?s how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-510-545-0990 (a number in Northern California.) When it?s finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy: http://faxtoy.net/ ? it?s a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero: http://faxzero.com/. This site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring ? hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Found this method online. Works very good!
I sent and received a FAX successfully on 10-22-2009

a very good, consistant 140 psi during wide open throttle cranking.

Let's take a look at the idle compression. Remember you had 140 psi during cranking. We [illegible] idle. As you well know, the throttle plates now are closed. We're in an idle condition. The cylinders are not breathing much air. So inherently speaking, we're going to have about 30-50% idle compression compared to what we had during cranking. You can see in Figure 8 I [illegible] a healthy 61 psi idle compression. We want to see in this waveform if there's too much mechanical slop in the timing chain. You can see I brought my cursors in and they tell me the distance between both top dead center (TDC) marks represent 150 ms.

[illegible] know, requires two complete revolutions to perform all four strokes. Again, my scope tells me it took 150 ms for the crank to turn two complete revolutions. Here's how we find out if there's too much slop in the timing chain. We know that we're going to open up the exhaust valve very close to bottom dead center (BDC) at the 180° mark. Now I want to take it to 150 ms, and I want to multiply it times 0.25 and whatever that value comes to will actually identify the 180° mark for me. 150 ms x 0.25 comes up to roughly 37 ms.

I dragged the cursor over to the 37-ms mark and this is BDC of the 180° mark.

Look at my trace in Figure 7. You can see right at the 180° mark there was a pressure [illegible] that's indicative of exhaust valve opening, which occurred right there. [illegible] to relate that to the 180° cursor.

This is what we've kind of gotten used to with the advent of these pressure transducers. If you look closely at my scope pattern in Figure 8, one cursor represents TDC. The other cursor represents BDC. The cam timing spec on this engine says that the exhaust valve should have opened at 54° before BDC. (This is the part we're kind of proud of.) If you take the time between a TDC mark and that 180° cursor, and count that there are nine minor divisions, 180° divided by nine minor divisions would tell us that the crank turned 20° every minor division.

We had a pressure shift that began right at BDC. Now follow closely and you will see that roughly 2-1/2 minor divisions between the EVO point, and that 180° cursor. If 2 1/2 minor divisions, 20° per division, the exhaust valve roughly opened up 50° before BDC.

The timing spec on this engine is 54°. So what does it tell us [illegible] say? We do not have excess timing chain slop that would have caused a sync problem between the crank and a cam, causing maybe the P0300 or, in this case, a P0303 for a misfire 3 cylinder. That Pulling Codes case is now closed. TS services performed upon household goods shall be subject to tax.

(c) Tangible personal property subsequently affixed to real estate. The vendor shall collect and remit tax on the rendition of services even though the tangible personal property upon which the taxable services are performed will later be affixed to the real estate so as to become a permanent part thereof. For example, where a lighting fixture is temporarily removed from a home and taken to a silversmith to be electroplated, tax shall be collected on the entire charge for the electroplating.

(d) Tangible personal property belonging to a third person. The vendor shall collect tax from persons paying the purchase price for such taxable services even though the tangible personal property on which the services are performed belongs to another. For example, where an insurance company has a car repaired for an insured person the person rendering the services shall collect tax from the insurance company on the total charge.

(e) Applicability of tax to service or maintenance agreements. Persons who enter into "service" agreements to render a taxable service are making "sales at retail" and shall collect sales tax on the entire charge made under the agreement. The fact that the agreement may be designated "Inspection," "Maintenance," or by any other name does not change this rule if under the terms of the agreement such persons shall be obligated to render taxable service upon the tangible personal property of their customers. For example, where a firm enters into agreements with a servicemen to have its office equipment inspected, repaired and cleaned the entire charge, without any limitation for expressly stated items, shall be subject to tax.

(f) Taxable services performed outside Pennsylvania on tangible personal property used in the Commonwealth. Where taxable services are performed outside the Commonwealth on tangible personal property brought into this Commonwealth for use in this Commonwealth, such services shall be subject to the use tax, based upon the entire charge made by the vendor if the tax is not collected by the vendor the purchaser of the services shall report and pay use tax directly to the Commonwealth. For example, where a resident of Pennsylvania has his automobile repaired outside of the Commonwealth tax shall be paid directly to the Commonwealth by the person for whom the services were rendered, or alternatively to the person rendering the services if such person is maintaining a place of business within the Commonwealth. A tax credit shall be permitted for taxes paid in most other states. Reference should be made to §31 7 of this title (relating to use tax).

(g) Services performed in Pennsylvania on tangible personal property to be used by nonresidents outside Pennsylvania. Services performed in this Commonwealth on tangible personal property to be used by nonresident outside this Commonwealth shall conform with the following:

(1) The vendor shall collect tax on his services if the tangible personal property on which the services have been performed is delivered to the purchaser or his agent in this Commonwealth, even though the purchaser will subsequently use the services and tangible personal property outside this Commonwealth. The fact that the purchaser as a nonresident and the services will be used outside this Commonwealth does not in itself under the transaction exempt. For example, where a nonresident of this Commonwealth

If you do not provide us with this information you may be subject to a $50 penalty imposed by IRS under section 6723. WHO IS #1?

Peter, He said that

I'd like to share a favorite quote which I think really represents our philosophy. It's from an old English author named Albert Pine, and it reads, "What we do for ourselves dies with us. What we do for the people in this world remains and is immortal."

Downloads Stack

Welcome to Mac OS X Snow Leopard!

The Dock in Snow Leopard includes Stacks, which you can use to quickly access frequently used files and applications right from the Dock.

Stacks are simple to create. Just drag any folder to the right side of the Dock and it becomes a stack. Click a stack and it springs from the Dock in either a fan or a grid. To open a file in a stack, click the file once.

Mac OS X Snow Leopard includes three premade stacks called Documents, Downloads, and Applications. You opened this file from the Downloads stack. The Downloads stack captures all of your Internet downloads and puts them in one convenient location. Files you download in Safari, Mail, and iChat go right into the Downloads stack. When a file finishes downloading, the stack notifies you by bouncing and puts the new file right on top, so it's easy to find.

Stacks automatically display their contents in a fan or a grid based on the number of items in the stack. You can also view the stack as a list. If you prefer one style over the other, you can set the stack to always open in that style.

Stacks intelligently show the most relevant items first, or you can set the sort order so that the items you care about most always appear at the top of the stack. To customize a stack, position the pointer over the stack icon and hold down the mouse button until a menu appears. Choose the settings you want from the menu.

To remove a file from a stack, just open the stack and drag the item out to where you want it. To delete a file, move it to the Trash. In fact, when you're done reading this document, feel free to throw it out.

PDQ INVENTORY

Welcome to PDQ Inventory

PDQ Inventory is a systems management solution that allows IT administrators to scan their network and collect hardware, software, and Windows configuration data.

PDQ Inventory maintains a database of your scanned computers, then organizes this data into default collections such as popular applications, Memory, Online Systems, and Workstations. PDQ Inventory Collections make it easier to manage the computers and the information most important to you. Each collection represents a set of computers and each computer can belong to multiple collections. Administrators can also create their own dynamic or static collections and custom inventory reports.

Documents Stack

Welcome to Mac OS X Snow Leopard.

The Dock in Snow Leopard includes Stacks, which you can use to quickly access frequently used files and applications right from the Dock.

Stacks are simple to create. Just drag any folder to the right side of the Dock and it becomes a stack. Click a stack and it springs from the Dock in either a fan or a grid. To open a file in a stack, click the file once.

Mac OS X Snow Leopard includes three premade stacks called Documents, Downloads, and Applications. You opened the file from the Documents stack. The Documents stack is a great place to keep things like presentations, spreadsheets, and word processing files. You can drag files to the stack or save them to the stack from an application.

Documents

Downloads

Applications

Stacks automatically display their contents in a fan or a grid based on the number of items in the stack. You can also view the stack as a list. If you prefer one style over the other, you can set the stack to always open in that style.

Stacks intelligently show the most relevant items first, or you can set the sort order so that the items you care about most always appear at the top of the stack. To customize a stack, position the pointer over the stack icon and hold down the mouse button until a menu appears. Choose the settings you want from the menu.

To remove a file from a stack, just open the stack and drag the item out to where you want it. To delete a file, move it to the Trash. In fact, when you're done reading this document, feel free to throw it out.

For more information about Medigap and the Late Enrollment Penalty (LEP), visit www.medicare.gov or call Medicare at 1-800-633-4227 TTY 1-877-486-2048 24 hours a day 7 days a week

When can I make changes to my coverage?

Once enrolled in our plan you can make changes only during certain times of the year

- You can switch, drop or join a Medicare plan from October 15 through December 7 This is the Open Enrollment Period.
- From January 1 through February 14 anyone enrolled in a Medicare Advantage plan can disenroll from that plan and return to Original Medicare. If you disenroll during this time you can join a stand-alone Medicare Prescription Drug (Part D) plan during the same period. If you join a Medicare Prescription Drug (Part D) plan you'll be automatically disenrolled from our plan and returned to Original Medicare
- You can change plans at other times of the year if you meet certain special exceptions or are a member of certain types of plans Some examples of these special exceptions are if you move out of your plan's service area, or want to join a plan in your area with a 5 star rating or if you qualify for Medicare's Extra Help program

Plans are marketed through UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company or one of its affiliated companies, a Medicare Advantage organization with a Medicare contract and a Medicare-approved Part D sponsor Enrollment in the plan depends on the plan's contract renewal with Medicare.

TEST DESCRIPTION

TEST RESULT

ALK Rearrangement	DETECTED

ALK Exon 20

COMMENT

SOURCE: Formalin-fixed paraffin-embedded tissue

CLINICAL INFORMATION

Non-Small Cell Lung Cancer (NSCLC): Approximately 3-7% of NSCLC tumors have rearrangements in the anaplastic lymphoma kinase (ALK) gene. ALK-positive NSCLC is usually associated with younger patients who have never smoked or have smoked very little. Patients with ALK-positive NSCLC tumors may benefit from treatment with ALK inhibitors. Currently, the National Comprehensive Cancer Network (NCCN) recommends ALK testing for NSCLC patients with advanced disease prior to initiating ALK inhibitor therapy. Patients who test positive for ALK rearrangement have been shown to respond to treatment with ALK inhibitors, while patients who test negative for ALK rearrangement are unlikely to benefit from ALK inhibitor therapy. Therefore, ALK testing is necessary to identify patients who are most likely to benefit from targeted therapy and to avoid unnecessary exposure to ineffective treatments and their associated toxicities.

METHOD

Tissue sections are tested for ALK rearrangement using a validated fluorescence in situ hybridization (FISH) assay. The assay uses a dual-color, break-apart probe set labeled with fluorescent dyes that flank the ALK gene on chromosome 2. Cells are counted and scored for the presence or absence of ALK rearrangement.

CancerTYPE ID — Molecular Classification with CancerTYPE ID

FFPE Tissue Processing & Tumor Enrichment

- CancerTYPE ID requires as few as 300-500 viable tumor cells and is compatible with limited biopsy specimens such as FNAs, cytological specimens, and small core needle biopsies.
- CancerTYPE ID routinely employs laser guided microdissection to enrich for tumor specimen.

Gene Expression Profiling

- CancerTYPE ID uses a robust real-time RT-PCR platform to detect very small differences in gene expression.
- CancerTYPE ID measures and integrates the gene expression of 92 genes, 5 normalization genes and 87 lineage determinant and tissue-specific genes, most of which are not routinely measured by IHC.

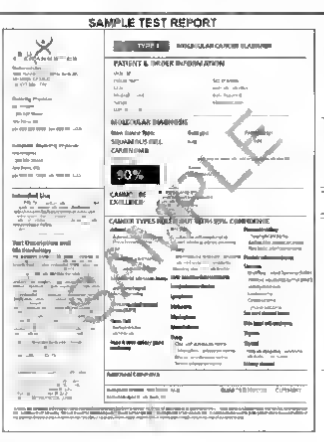
Reference Tumor Database & Algorithm

- CancerTYPE ID uses a computational algorithm to predict the patient's tumor type based on the degree of similarity of the sample's 92-gene expression profile to a reference database of gene expression profiles. The reference database contains gene expression information from over 2,000 tumor specimens of known histogenesis, and representing ~95% of all solid tumors based on incidence.
- The CancerTYPE ID algorithm provides a predicted main type and any sub-types in rank-order by relative probabilities, which are based on the tumor's gene expression similarity to tumors of these types in the reference database.

Molecular Classification

- CancerTYPE ID classifies 28 tumor types and 50 tumor subtypes.
- In an independent validation of 2998 blinded samples, the molecular diagnosis was 87% accurate for main tumor type and 86% accurate for tumor subtype.

SAMPLE TEST REPORT



Interpreting CancerTYPE ID Test Results

MOLECULAR DIAGNOSIS

The [redacted] molecular diagnosis is the CancerTYPE ID prediction of certain tumor subtypes. It is reported probability (≥ 80%), the tumor is reported as "Indeterminate", in this case, the test report will also indicate tumor types that can be ruled out (see below) that cannot be excluded.

CAN NOT BE EXCLUDED

When applicable, tumor types on the CancerTYPE ID reference database that share some gene expression profile similarity to the patient's sample such that they cannot be excluded. Item diagnostic consideration will be listed here in rank order.

RULE OUTS

The CancerTYPE ID test report also lists tumor types that can all be ruled out with 95% confidence. In an independent validation of 2998 blinded samples, the rule-outs were 95% accurate. This may provide useful differential diagnostic information when two or more potential tumor types are suspected and one or more tumors may be ruled out in the rule outs.
